50	1392	1505. October 12.	Treaty of peace and alliance concluded by Louis XII., King of France, with the Ambassadors of Ferrand (Ferdinand) Catholic King of Spain, Arragon, &c. 1. The French King will assist the King of Spain with 1,000 hommes d'armes after the French fashion, which he is bound to send to succour the kingdom of Naples and those of Castile, Arragon, and other Spanish territory on this side the mountains; the King of Spain being bound to send 3,000 "germetz," mounted and armed in Spanish fashion, to succour the Duchies of Milan, Genoa, and other territories of the very Christian King beyond the mountains, or other his territories this side of the same. 2. Mercantile intercourse between the subjects of the two princes to be perfectly free, and execution of all letters of marque or reprisals granted on either side to be suspended for six months, during which time both parties will give diligence to arrange the quarrels which gave rise to such letters. 3. All offences on either side to be overlooked. The Catholic King also absolves all barons and others of the kingdom of Sicily, or any other nation, who took the French King's part from any animosity he might have against them therefor; but they shall make to him, and the Queen his consort who shall be, the oath of fealty they are bound to take. All such can live where they please save in the territory of the enemies of, or those suspected by, the Catholic King and Queen: and they shall enjoy all their property in the said kingdom, provided they shall not hinder the officers of the King and Queen in executing their duty in their baronies within the said kingdom of Sicily in the same way as in the time of past Kings of Sicily. 4. The Prince of Rossane, Marquis of Bethonte, Messieurs Honnorat and Alphonce de Saint Sevrin, and Fabrice de Jeynaldo and all others taken during the war between the Kings and still detained prisoners by the Catholic King in Italy, Arragon, Castile, Spain, or elsewhere, shall be immediately set at liberty without ransom; and the like shall be done by the very Christian King. 5. All princes and others of the kingdom of Sicily or elsewhere, who have followed the French King against the Catholic King, or their lawful heirs, immediately on the conclusion of the marriage between the Catholic King and Germaine de la Foix, shall be restored to the possession of the principalities and lands they had when the war began, even supposing that by the Catholic King or by King Frederic they have been alienated; which alienations shall not prejudice the right of petition or possession of the said princes or barons touching the goods they had when the war began, provided they will take the oaths of allegiance to the King and Queen. 6. For the honour of Pope Julius II., the Sieur Prefaict [Lord Prefect ?], his nephew, who always followed the French King, shall be similarly restored to possession of all lands he held when war openly commenced between the Kings; and for other lands he did not hold at the time of open war swift justice shall be done him by the Catholic King. The Cardinal Damboyse, Legate in France, to be likewise put in possession of the seignories of Sarno and Gande, notwithstanding any alienations that may have been made by the Christian King. 7. All lands and goods of Queen Isabella, widow of King Frederic, in the said kingdom to be restored her, provided she and her children reside where the Catholic King shall please. To determine what belongs to her there, two commissioners shall be chosen, one by her, and one by that King, pending whose decision the King shall decently support, her and her children. 8. For strengthening this alliance the French King agrees for Demoiselle Germaine de la Foix, his niece, with the Spanish ambassadors, to the Catholic King's marriage with that lady, which shall be celebrated at once verbally by the Count de Sifountes, procurator of the Catholic King for this purpose, as soon as the lady comes to the King her uncle, and shall be consummated as soon as possible. For which purpose the said King will send his niece, honourably accompanied, as if she were his daughter, at his own expense, to the confines of his kingdom towards Roussillon or Fontarabia, as the Catholic King may choose. 9. For dowry the French King gives her all his right and title to the kingdom of Sicily on this side the "Far" [Var], according to the division of that kingdom in a treaty made thereupon between the Kings; and also to the kingdom of Jerusalem, to the lady and her children after her. In case of failure of issue such dower to remain to the very Christian King and his heirs. 10. In consideration of the

The Catholic King will also defray any expense or damage incurred by the French King through his failure to pay; and for this he will provide sureties in the city of Genoa or Avignon within three months, and also letters obligatory to the French King. 11. If there are no children from this marriage, so that the kingdoms of Sicily and Jerusalem return to the French King and his heirs, if they wish to have such kingdoms they shall restore to the Catholic King or his heirs as much of the said sum as they shall have received. 12. The ambassadors agree the lady shall have such jointure as dowager Queens are accustomed to have in the kingdoms of the Catholic King. 13. Immediately after the consummation of the said marriage, the proctors of the two Kings at the Court of Rome shall pray the Pope to grant investiture of the said kingdom to the Catholic King and Queen. 14. The two Kings will request the King of England to be conservator of this peace and will name their allies within three months of the verbal celebration of this marriage. 16. When the marriage is celebrated verbally the title of King of the two Sicilies and of Jerusalem shall be attributed to the Catholic King by consent of the very Christian King, who shall not use that title himself except in case of restitution of dower. 50	1401	1506. July 16.	Notarial instrument whereby James Bishop "Catinensis" certifies that on July 14 Philip King of Castile before the high altar in the Royal Chapel at Valladolid, and in presence of Nicholas West, Commissioner of the King of England, submitted to his authority, and acknowledged he owed the King of England 300,000 gold crowns and an annual sum of 30,850 gold crowns on account of the marriage of the latter with Margaret Duchess of Savoy, to be paid at the terms (herein recited) arranged in the treaty of 20 March last, on security of his own and his subjects' goods; and required the Bishop to utter sentence of excommunication against him in case of non-payment. Then is inserted the King of England's commission to Nicholas West [O. xiii. 131; H. v. pt. iv. 223]. Valladolid, 16 July, 21 Hen. VII. Sealed with the seal of John Bishop "Salubriensis," 17 July. 50	1402	1506. [July.]	Draft of a portion of letters patent of Philip King of Castile confirming the clause of the treaty concluded by his commissioners on 20 March last with the King of England, for the latter's marriage with Margaret Duchess of Savoy, whereby he is bound to pay the King of England 32,000 gold crowns yearly in lieu of the income due to Lady Margaret from her jointure lands in Spain and Savoy, promising to appear before any ecclesiastical judge, when so required by the King of England's commissioner, to acknowledge the above debts, and invoke excommunication by the said judge in case of failure of payment. [July], 21 Hen. VII. [The above amount of 32,000 gold crowns is incorrect, and should be 30,850 crowns; it has arisen from estimating the jointure lands in Spain at 20,000 instead of 18,000 crowns yearly. See above, the treaty of 20 March, 1505–6, Box 50, No. 1399; and O. xiii. 129; H. v. pt. iv. 222.]

50	1407	1538. December 31.	Roderic Bishop of Derry to Pope Paul [III.]. I, your brother Roderic Bishop of Derry, sorrowfully inform you of a very bitter thing, that the deputy of the King of England in our part of Ireland and his adherents, because we wish to recognise you or your successors as our superiors in spiritual matters, burn our houses, desecrate temples, slaughter the harmless, &c., glorying in it when they have done evil, fearing neither God nor the saints, nor respecting men. And they are so wrapped in heretical depravity and steeped in impurity of life that they deliver to death all priests mentioning you in the canon of the living, or they are compelled to erase your name from the canon. And all (if there are any) who pray showing due reverence for you and the Apostolic Court in their prayers, suffer torture of body unless they consent to recall their error. Were I to depict the wastings, slaughters, burnings, and afflictions of the Christians of our parts this letter would seem to grow into a book; for according to the Psalm the Christians of Ireland mingle their drink with weeping and their singing is turned into mourning, and the lamp of prosperity of our Christian religion is obscured. We are vexed with bitter grief seeing the minds of the miserable people of our parts torn by anguish, who being destitute of all aid, unless you succour them, the grave alone remains; for the net of the chief Fisherman in our land [sagena summi piscatoris] is being driven to be overwhelmed in the depths of shipwreck, when the pillars of all Ireland in spiritual matters, that is to say, the four archbishops, heretically assenting to the depravity of the English have withdrawn themselves from your obedience. It is necessary, therefore, for all the faithful in Christ who recognise your supreme power, as is fit, that timely remedy in this behalf be thought of, by which the unity of our Church may be restored and incorporated under the yoke of your Apostolic see. For since, being occupied with the care of all the churches, you cannot personally attend to the affairs of individual churches in particular, and the English who have firmly subjugated the whole of Ireland by their nefarious laws, by long distances of sea and road are removed from your see, they whose furious counsels boil up so hotly against the church of God can be effectually curbed by no one save by my industry. I, your brother and most humble petitioner, Bishop of Derry, beseech your Holiness that to oppose the power of their rebellion with which they rage against the Church of God, you would grant me an indulgence for removing the bishops and other inferior

"'Particulars' to enable the Houses of Parliament to judge of the expediency of disposing of the Documents in the proposed manner," that is to say, by destruction.

PRINCIPLES ADOPTED IN THE PREPARATION OF THE SCHEDULE. JURISDICTION AND FICTIONS OF THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

In the preparation of this Schedule the same principles have been followed as in the preparation of the Schedules* of the documents of the Plea Side of the Court of Queen's Bench which have now been destroyed. Most of the classes herein set down for destruction, though often differing in name, and theoretically different in origin, have practically served a similar purpose to that of the classes of which the destruction has been already sanctioned.

It seems, however, hardly possible to give "Particulars" which will enable the Houses of Parliament to judge of the expediency of destroying the documents included in this Schedule without a brief account of the jurisdiction and fictions of the Court, of the manner in which its records were kept, and of the purpose which they served.

The Court of Common Pleas has been described (4 Inst. 79) as the Lock and Key of the Common Law. It had exclusive jurisdiction in Real Actions, including the fictitious Real Actions supposed to pass in Fines and Recoveries. It had also a jurisdiction, which was not exclusive, in personal and mixed actions; and actions were removed into it from inferior courts of record by Writ of Habeas Corpus cum causa or Certiorari, and from courts not of record by Writ of Pone, Recordari facias loquelam, or False Judgment.

In the 25th year of the reign of Elizabeth the plea, issue, or judgment roll entitled Placita de Banco was divided into two, one part thenceforward becoming the roll of Placita Terræ, commonly called the Recovery Roll, and the other the Common Roll or roll relating to personal and mixed actions, as, for instance, ejectment.

So far as Fines and Recoveries are concerned there is a similar division of the documents belonging to the earlier stages of these supposed real actions from those in personal actions, but the writs which have reference to other real actions have not been kept distinct. This point is, perhaps, worth notice, as a writ De Magna Assisa Eligenda of the reign of William IV. was found amoung the ordinary writs for the commencement of personal actions, and the fact may be of some little historical interest. An inspection of these writs, too, seems to show that real actions had not before the abolition of the greater part of them by the Act 3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 27. s. 36, been superseded in so great a degree by the action of ejectment as has been sometimes supposed.

* Schedule No. 1 has been printed as House of Lords Paper No. 80, Session, 1882, and as House of Commons Paper No. 103, Session 1882. Schedule No. 2 has also been printed, C. 3655, A.D. 1883.

No. 5.—Schedules of Valueless Documents—continued.

The present Schedule includes all the documents of the Court of Common Pleas now in the Public Record Office, which it is at present considered expedient to destroy. It does not, however, include documents connected with real actions, or with fines and recoveries, or generally with the Alienation Office, the expediency of destroying any of which may be hereafter considered. Nor does it specifically include all the documents intermixed with those of other Courts of which there is reason to believe that a great number remain to be examined and identified, but most of which will (when not of earlier date than the year 1715) probably fall within the description given in this Schedule; and in that case no further authority will be required for their destruction.

It may be doubted whether there would be any advantage in destroying even the minor documents relating to Fines and Recoveries, as the space which would be gained would be comparatively small. If they are finally preserved, the similar documents relating to the real actions which are not fictitious might for the sake of uniformity be retained also, and it is to be understood that when they are intermixed with documents relating to personal or mixed actions which are to be destroyed, they will be selected for temporary if not for permanent preservation.

Before the Uniformity of Process Act (2 Will. IV. c. 39) came into operation the following were the modes of commencing personal actions in the Court of Common Pleas :—

(I.) By Original Writ adapted to the action ;
(II.) By Original Writ Quare Clausum Fregit ;
(III.) By Common Capias Quare Clausum Fregit, which might be either
  (a.) Bailable ;
  (b.) Not bailable ;
(IV.) By Bill against an Attorney or Officer of the Court ;
(V.) By Bill and Summons (under the Statute 12 & 12 Will. III. c. 3. s. 2) against Members of the House of Commons ;
(VI.) By Attachment of Privilege in cases in which the Plaintiff was an Attorney or Officer of the Court.

The three last-mentioned modes (IV., V., and VI.) were identical with those which were applied in the Court of Queen's Bench in similar circumstances, and which have been described in Schedule No. 1* of valueless documents of the Plea Side of that Court. They do not, therefore, appear to require further description here. The Bills against Attorneys, however, commonly have, in the Court of Common Pleas, a rule Nisi for forejudger attached to them. This was used for the purpose of compelling appearance.

The three first-mentioned modes were dependent on one common principle, and differed one from another only by the introduction of certain fictions in certain cases.

(I.) The Original Writ adapted to the action, also called a "Special Original," though applicable to any case, was necessary only when the action was against peers corporations, or hundredors. It was a Writ issuing out of Chancery and returnable in the Court of Common Pleas, and was precisely what it purported to be without the introduction of any fiction.

(II.) The original Writ Quare Clausum fregit, also called a "Common Original," was ordinarily used against a person who was keeping out of the way, or for the purpose of proceeding to outlawry. Like the Special Original, it really issued out of Chancery and was returnable in the Court of Common Pleas. It, however, involved a fiction expressed in the words quare clausum fregit. The supposition that the defendant had broken the plaintiff's close rendered the defendant's person (if not privileged) subject to be taken by a Writ of capias. The true cause of action might be debt or any personal matter over which the Court had jurisdiction. The fiction that a close had been broken served in the Court of Common Pleas the purpose which was served by the analogous fiction in proceedings by Bill in the Court of Queen's Bench that there had been a "trespass."

(III.) The chief use, however, made of the fiction that a close had been broken was in connexion with another fiction which constituted a part of the third or most ordinary mode of proceeding by writ of capias quare clausum fregit. This was a capias founded on a supposed Common Original which had, in fact, never been sued out. Though theoretically quite different in origin it was practically used in precisely the same way as the Bill of Middlesex and Latitat in the Court of Queen's

* House of Lords' Paper No. 80, Session 1882, and House of Commons' Paper No. 103 Session 1882.

No. 5.—Schedules of Valueless Documents—continued.

Bench. Like them it took the two forms of "bailable" and "not bailable," the one simply alleging the trespass and used simply as serviceable process, the other with a clause of ac etiam, showing the true cause of action, and used when the intention was to arrest the defendant and to hold him to bail.

The capias quare clausum fregit was a kind of capias ad respondendum, it being expressed therein that the Defendant was to answer the Plaintiff concerning the matters alleged. Another kind of capias ad respondendum issued (in cases in which a capias lay) when the action was commenced by a Special Original, because the breaking of a close was not alleged in the Original, and consequently not mentioned in the capias. This latter capias ad respondendum, unlike the writ of the same name used in the Court of Queen's Bench, seems always to have followed an Original actually sued out and not merely imagined, but was in other respects of the same nature.

These were the modes of commencing personal actions in the Court of Common Pleas before the changes effected by the Uniformity of Process Act. They were, mutatis mutandis, and subject to the particular fictions above described, of the same character as those used in the Queen's Bench in Proceedings by Original, or by Bill against an Attorney or Officer of the Court, or by Bill and Summons against a Member of the House of Commons, or by Attachment of Privilege. After the Uniformity of Process Act came into operation the mode of commencing personal actions became identical in the superior Courts of Common Law at Westminster. Both before and after the commencement of that Act the various documents used between the issue of the writ for commencing the action and appearance were in the Court of Common Pleas similar in effect (if not always identical in name and origin) to those used in the Court of Queen's Bench both in serviceable and in bailable process.

The documents of the Court of Common Pleas in the Public Record Office extend to a date somewhat later than the documents of the Court of Queen's Bench in the same office, and for that reason later dates appear in the list. A change of practice was effected by the Common Law Procedure Act in 1852, and consequently some documents under the later practice are set down for destruction; but the principle on which the destruction is recommended is not in any way affected by anything in the last-mentioned Act. The latest date of any document set down for destruction is 1860.

Documents previous to the Declaration.

(Nos. 1–41.)

(Nos. 1–41.)—The classes of documents numbered 1–41 in the List belong to the stage of the action (not being a real action) which extends from its commencement to the appearance of the Defendant; and the destruction of them is recommended on the same principle as the destruction of the analogous documents of the Plea Side of the Court of Queen's Bench. It therefore seems unnecessary, after pointing out the analogy which exists, to state again the reasons already given at great length in the Schedules relating to that Court. The course which is applicable to a "Common Bail Piece" in one Court cannot but be applicable to an Appearance Piece in the other, and an Affidavit of Debt in the one Court is of no more value than an Affidavit of Debt in the other.

(No. 21.)—The only class which appears to call for observation among the first 41 items in the List is that of the "Filacers' Remembrance Rolls" (No. 21), which might, perhaps, by its title suggest the idea of documents of some importance. The Filacers' Remembrance Rolls are, however, quite distinct from the other Remembrance Rolls of the Court, and are, within the period set down for destruction, merely, as described in the List, memoranda of the issue of the earlier writs in actions other than real.

Documents relative to Matters subsequent to Appearance and previous to Judgment in ordinary Personal Actions.

(Nos. 42–51.)

The matters which relate to pleadings in personal actions are (apart from the entries of the pleadings on the Common Roll) not very numerous among the documents of the Court of Common Pleas. There are, in fact, no separate pleadings subsequent to the Declaration.

No. 5.—Schedules of Valueless Documents—continued.

(No. 42.)—The Declarations filed in the Court are chiefly those filed against prisoners or in cases (sec. stat.) in which the Plaintiff entered an appearance for the Defendant, and are commonly accompanied by an Affidavit of Service or Delivery. The other pleadings were delivered between the Attorneys, and the Declarations in personal actions are, for the reasons already given in a previous Schedule,* quite unworthy of preservation. The Declarations in Ejectment are, as in the Court of Queen's Bench, kept distinct from the others, and the intention is to preserve them.

(No. 45.)—The Entry Books of Rules to Plead are analogous to those already destroyed among the documents of the Court of Queen's Bench and the so-called (Nos. 46 and 47) Plea Books and Day Books, being merely the Fee Books of the Officers of the Court, could never have been of any use after they had served the temporary purposes for which the entries were made in them.

(No. 48.)—A few separate Rules or copies of Rules, with Affidavits of Service of Copy, are found among other classes but not in any regular series. The Rules of Court are entered upon Remembrance Rolls which are preserved.

(No. 49.)—Some Judges' Orders are also intermixed with other documents. They are for the most part of the same nature as those mentioned in Schedule No. 2 of documents of the Court of Queen's Bench (p. 10).

(No. 50.)—The class of Commissions, Interrogatories, and Depositions includes Depositions taken pursuant to the Act 1 Will. IV. c. 22., and returned from places in England, Wales, the Colonies, and foreign countries. Among them are a few Depositions taken in actions pending before the abolition of Real Actions by the Act 3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 27. sec. 36; it is proposed to select these for preservation and to destroy the rest.

(No. 51.)—The Special Jury Lists are of the same nature as those described in the Schedule relating to documents of the Court of Queen's Bench.

Minor Documents relating to Judgment and Satisfaction.

(Nos. 52–65.)

(Nos. 52 and 53.)—The Caret Books and Papers have served the same purpose as the so-called Docket Rolls of the Court of Queen's Bench,† which showed the numbers marked on the Rolls given out to the Attorneys. The Rolls not brought in were Carets. These documents may have been useful for a time to the Officers of the Court, but they are now quite valueless and are not in a complete series.

(Nos. 53–55.)—The Books entitled "Entries on the Roll," "Special Judgment Books," and "Common Judgment Books," though they might from their names be supposed to be of importance, have been used primarily as Fee Books. They might serve as rough Indices to matters entered on the Common Rolls and not appearing in the Docket Book or Docket Rolls, and for that reason the earlier portion of each series has been omitted from the list for destruction. With the year 1800, however, begins a series of "Day Books" which contains in a more convenient form the whole of the information found in the three series, and deprives them from that time onwards of any little value they might possess.

(No. 56.)—The series entitled "Entries of Judgments" or simply "Judgments," consists also of Fee Books, begins with the year 1838, and includes the entries previously found in the books called "Special Judgment Books" and "Common Judgment Books," which were discontinued in the year 1837. The contents are to be found in the "Day Books" above mentioned until the 30th September 1858, and after that day in a series entitled "Judgment Books" beginning with the 1st October 1858. A complete series, therefore, will be kept, and that the series in which the information is most accessible. A series of Index Books, which, however, does not commence until the year 1838, is also preserved.

(Nos. 57–62.)—The documents numbered 57–62 in the List came into existence under the 19th section of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. cap. 110. and under the Act 2 Vict. cap. 11., in the latter of which it was enacted that judgments were to be no longer docketed under the Act 4 Will. & Mary c. 20.

Under the 13th section of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110. judgments entered up in any of the Superior Courts at Westminster were (if registered) to operate as a charge upon real estate; and under the 18th section of the same Act Decrees and

Orders of Courts of Equity, Rules of Courts of Common Law, and Orders in Lunacy, were to have the same effect as such judgments. According to the 19th section of the same Act a Memorandum or Minute of the Judgment, &c. had (if real estate was to be affected) to be left with the Senior Master of the Court of Common Pleas who was to enter the particulars in a book in alphabetical order by the name of the person whose estate was intended to be affected. According to the fourth section of 2 Vict. c. 11., Judgments, &c. had to be re-entered at the end of five years from the date of the first registration, or otherwise would become void against real estate, and a memorandum or minute of the judgment, &c. was to be left for the purpose of re-entry in the book. It was also enacted by the seventh section that no lis pendens should bind a purchaser or mortgagee, without express notice, unless a memorandum or minute (showing whose estate was intended to be affected, and the Court of Equity and the title of the cause, and the day when the bill or information was filed) should be left with the Senior Master of the Court of Common Pleas, who was to enter the particulars in a book in alphabetical order by the name of the person whose estate was to be affected. Also by the eighth section of the same Act no judgment, statute, recognisance, or inquisition under the Statute 33 Hen. VIII. c. 39., and no acceptance of office under 13 Eliz. c. 4. was to affect real estate unless a similar memorandum was left in like manner for entry in the "Index to Debtors and Accountants to the Crown."

The several Books mentioned in the Acts being preserved, and the required particulars including the satisfaction or quietus being therein entered, it appears unnecessary to keep the memoranda or minutes upon slips of paper. The other documents connected with registration which are entered in the List for destruction are of a purely subsidiary character, and belong to stages antecedent to the entries in the books of the particular matters to which they relate. Thus the "Day Books" are what their name imports, the books kept for the entry day by day of the matters which were subsequently entered alphabetically in the books kept pursuant to the Acts. The Ticket Books, otherwise called "Counterparts of Receipts," are books showing by the signature of the Attorney the delivery of the Memorandum or Minute, or the delivery of the order to enter satisfaction. None of these papers or volumes are of any present use, as the books kept pursuant to the Acts are sufficient for all purposes.

(Nos. 63 and 64.)—The Satisfaction Pieces of the Court of Common Pleas do not differ in any essential feature from those of the Court of Queen's Bench already destroyed. Some Warrants of Attorney to enter or acknowledge satisfaction have been found with them, but do not appear to be more worthy of preservation than the satisfaction pieces themselves.

(No. 65.)—The class of Affidavits to ground motions for leave to enter up judgment on Warrants of Attorney above one and under ten years old does not appear to be worthy of preservation in the Public Record Office. The deponent swore that a debt was in existence, that a Warrant of Attorney had been given for it, that it still remained unpaid and unsatisfied, and that the deponent believed the defendant to be still alive. Such documents can hardly be of any use when (as is now the case) nearly half a century has elapsed since the date they bear.

Various Documents relating to Prisoners.

(Nos. 66-81.)

(No. 66.)—There are among the documents of the Court of Common Pleas a considerable number of Writs of Habeas Corpus ad Satisfaciendum. These were formerly used for the purpose of "charging in execution" persons who were in County Gaols or in the Fleet Prison after judgment had been given against them. Under the Act 15 & 16 Vict. c. 76. s. 127 it ceased to be necessary to sue out a Writ of Habeas Corpus ad Satisfaciendum in order to charge in execution a person already in the prison of the Court; and it is difficult to see what use could ever be made of the documents of this class now in existence.

(Nos. 67–79.)—The papers of classes numbered 67 to 79 and relating to prisoners are of the same nature as those of the Court of Queen's Bench,* though some of them are of earlier date, being anterior to the passing of the Lords' Act (32 Geo. II. c. 28.). The provisions, however, of the Statute 2 Geo. II. c 22. s. 8 and of the Statute 3 Geo. II. c. 27. secs. 1 and 2 were similar to those of the Lords' Act, and the same principles are applicable to the documents arising under all those Acts for the relief of debtors in prison. The form of oath under the Lords' Act is simply a copy (without signatures) of that which appears in the Act itself. It is intended that the Schedules relating to real property should be preserved, but that all the other documents relating to prisoners' applications to be discharged should be destroyed.

(Nos. 80 and 81.)—The Petitions for Day Rules are also of the same character as those described in Schedule No. 1 of Documents of the Court of Queen's Bench,* the only difference being that they are from prisoners in the Fleet instead of prisoners in the Marshalsea; but there are with them some Certificates of the Grant of the Day Rules for which application had been made. These are obviously of no more permanent value than the petitions. Most of them, indeed, are merely printed forms in which the name of the prisoner has not even been inserted.

Proceedings in Error.

(No. 82.)

(No. 82.)—The Writs of Error and the Proceedings in Error mentioned in the List (No. 82) are all under the Act 11 George IV. and 1 William IV. c. 70. By the 8th section of that Statute Writs of Error directed to the Court of Common Pleas (as well as to the other Superior Courts of Common Law at Westminster) were made returnable in the Exchequer Chamber. The Writs of Error to the Court of Common Pleas returnable, under the ancient practice, in the Court of Queen's Bench, and the Writs of Error directed to the Court of Queen's Bench and returnable in the Exchequer Chamber have already been destroyed. The reasons for considering those and other Proceedings in Error unworthy of preservation in the Public Record Office have been set forth at length at pages 11–16 of Schedule No. 2† of Documents of the Court of Queen's Bench, to which reference has already been made. Similar arguments appear to be applicable to the Proceedings in Error now under consideration. The reversal of judgment (if any) would, indeed, under the Act last above mentioned, no longer appear, in any case, upon the Judgment Roll of the Court of Queen's Bench, as in former times, but always upon the "Original Record," that is to say, upon the Common Roll of the Court of Common Pleas. In all other respects the reasons already stated appear to hold good.

Proceedings in Outlawry.

(Nos. 83–87.)

The use and purpose of Writs in Outlawry included in the present List for destruction being precisely the same as those of the Writs bearing the same names in the Court of Queen's Bench already described,(‡) it is unnecessary to re-state the reasons for destroying them.

The Outlawry Books (so-called), which are also included in this Schedule, are merely Fee Books relative to the issue of the Writs used in Outlawry, or to searches respecting them.

The material facts relative to Outlawry and its reversal are entered upon rolls, and, for a limited period, in books entitled "Exigents," the preservation of the whole of which is intended. The Writs of Special Capias Utlagatum with the Inquisitions annexed will also be retained.

Fee and Account Books.

(No. 88.)

A selection has been made from some of the Books used by Officers of the Court for entering fees, &c., as they may, in some instances, serve (though very imperfectly) to make good defects in Indices. The rest, however, appear to be absolutely worthless. They could never have been intended for permanent preservation.

Documents relating to Costs.

(Nos. 89–91.)

(Nos. 89 and 90.)—The reasons against preserving Bills of Costs and Affidavits of Increase have already been stated at p. 17 of Schedule No. 2 of Documents of the Court of Queen's Bench.

‡ Schedule No. 1, Nos. 79–82.

No. 5.—Schedules of Valueless Documents—continued.

(No. 91.)—In addition to these, there exist among the Records of the Court of Common Pleas some bonds for securing the Defendant's costs in case the Plaintiff should be nonsuit or discontinue, or have judgment against him. Some are given by agreement between the parties, the rest upon Judges' Orders. Some of these Orders and the Affidavits to ground motions for obtaining such Orders are with the bonds. Various reasons are stated for requiring the Plaintiff to find security, but that which is most commonly assigned is that the Plaintiff was out of the jurisdiction of the Court. There does not appear to be any reason for the permanent preservation of any of these documents.

Minor Documents relating to Admission, &c., of Attorneys.

(Nos. 92–102.)

(Nos. 92–99.)—The documents numbered 92–99 in the List, though not all belonging to precisely the same classes, are all as valueless as those described under the same head in Schedule No. 2, relating to Documents of the Court of Queen's Bench (p. 18). Some, indeed, of the Certificates included in the present List are those given to Attorneys of that Court, and appear to have been brought to the office of the Court of Common Pleas by accident.

(No. 98.)—The class numbered 98 is of limited extent and includes only formal documents which came into existence through the abolition of the jurisdiction of the Courts of Great Session of Wales, and through the admission of Attorneys who, after having practised in those Courts, became Attorneys of the Court of Common Pleas.

All the important documents relating to Attorneys (including the Roll or Book of Attorneys, and the Residence Books) are preserved.

(Nos. 100–102.)—The documents numbered 100–102 are mere forms used probably for the purpose of refreshing the memory of the Officers of the Court. There is no intention of destroying any roll with any signatures upon it.

Miscellaneous.

(Nos. 103–107.)

(No. 103.)—The class (No. 103) of Certificates of Receipt of the Sacrament consists apparently of the certificates given under the first three sections of the Act 25 Charles II. cap. 1. to persons appointed to hold any office. It might have been expected under the provisions of the Act that these documents would have been found among those of the Courts of Chancery and Queen's Bench, and not among those of the Court of Common Pleas. None have been found among those of the Court of Queen's Bench, and it is possible that the papers now under consideration may have really belonged to that Court. In any case their existence has long been forgotten, and they cannot now serve any useful purpose.

(No. 104.)—The (No. 104) documents relating to appeals against decisions of Revising Barristers of a date as far back as 1849 cannot be of any practical use or interest to anyone.

They do not even show the decision of the Court of Common Pleas on the points submitted.

(Nos. 105 and 106.)—Such papers as (Nos. 105 and 106) Briefs and Drafts or copies of various documents hardly call for further comment than has been made in a previous Schedule.*

(No. 107.)—There is, however, among the documents of the Court of Common Pleas a considerable quantity of parchment and paper, the writing upon which has become illegible, not from age, but probably through the want of a proper Repository at some time before the present Record Office was built. It is useless to preserve such matter as this, and the intention is to destroy it with the rest.

PRINCIPLES ADOPTED IN THE PREPARATION OF THE SCHEDULE. JURISDICTION AND FICTIONS OF THE COURT OF PLEAS IN THE EXCHEQUER, AND PROCEDURE THEREIN.

The principles adopted in the preparation of the Schedules of Valueless Documents of the Courts of Queen's Bench and Common Pleas have again been followed in the preparation of the present Schedule. It has reference exclusively to documents removed from the Court formerly known in common language as the Exchequer of Pleas, and does not include any documents removed from any of the other branches of the Exchequer.

The Court, though it could hold pleas in actions other than real between party and party, enjoyed that jurisdiction chiefly by means of a fiction. It had originally jurisdiction in all causes which concerned the King's profit or revenue, and particularly in relation to debts due to the King. Any one indebted to the King might sue in this Court upon a suggestion of quominus, that is to say, that, by reason of the cause of action which he had against the defendant, he was the less able to satisfy the King. In course of time this suggestion was used in the case of suitors who were not really the King's debtors or farmers, so that it was practically open to every one to sue in the Exchequer of Pleas in any personal action, and in ejectment.

Before the Uniformity of Process Act (2 William IV. c. 39.) came into operation the following were the modes of commencing personal actions :—

(I.) By Writ of Venire ad respondendum.
(II.) By Writ of Subpœna ad respondendum.
(III.) By Writ of Quominus capias.
(IV.) By Venire of Privilege.
(V.) By Capias of Privilege.
(VI.) By Bill and Summons against Members of the House of Commons.
(VII.) By Bill against Attorneys, Officers of the Court, and Prisoners.

Though there was no procedure in the Exchequer of Pleas by Original Writ iasuing out of the Chancery, the Venire ad respondendum served as a substitute, and was employed in proceedings at Common Law against persons having privilege of Parliament. It has indeed been described as an Original Writ issuing out of the Exchequer.*

The Writ of Subpœna ad respondendum, though analogous to the Subpœna on the Equity side of the Exchequer, and in Chancery, was in some cases used for the purpose of compelling appearance in the Exchequer of Pleas, especially when there was a difficulty in serving the defendant with a Quominus capias.†

The Writ of Quominus capias, however, was that which was most commonly employed and that in which the fiction that the plaintiff was the King's debtor was uniformly expressed.

The Venire of Privilege was only a variety of the Venire ad respondendum abovementioned, and was used when the plaintiff was an Attorney or Officer of the Court.

The Capias of Privilege was used instead of the Quominus when an Attorney or Officer of the Court was plaintiff, as he had the privilege of suing in the Exchequer ex officio, and there was no necessity to avail himself of any fiction.

No. 5.—Schedules of Valueless Documents—continued.

The proceeding by Bill and Summons against Members of the House of Commons was the same as in the Courts of Queen's Bench and Common Pleas, and has been described in the Schedules of Valueless Documents of those Courts. It was a mode of proceeding commonly substituted, under the second section of the Act 12 & 13 William III. c. 3., for the Common Law proceeding by Venire facias ad respondendum.

The proceedings by Bill against Attorneys and Officers of the Court and against prisoners were also of the same nature as those described in the preceding Schedules.

The process to compel appearance subsequent to the first writ differed in nature according to the writ first employed.

The Venire ad respondendum was directed to the Sheriff who made out a warrant or summons by which his Officer summoned the defendant. This, if the defendant failed to appear, was followed by Distringas, and, if necessary, by alias and pluries Distringas.

The Subpœna ad respondendum was directed to the defendant, and service was usually by copy or "label" of it. Upon failure to appear this was followed by attachment,* alias and pluries attachment with clause of proclamation, and finally by Commission of Rebellion.

The Quominus capias and Capias of Privilege appear to have been followed only by alias and pluries writs of the same nature.

After the commencement of the Uniformity of Process Act in Michaelmas Term, 1832, the modes of commencing personal actions in the Exchequer of Pleas became identical with those in the Courts of Queen's Bench and Common Pleas.

Documents previous to the Declaration.

(Nos. 1–36.)

(Nos. 1–35.)—The documents numbered 1–35 differ from those belonging to the same stage of an action in the Courts of Queen's Bench (Plea Side) and Common Pleas only in the manner in which the process of the Courts differed before the Uniformity of Process Act came into operation. They are in every way analogous, where they are not identical in form, and the reasons for destroying them are those stated in previous Schedules.

(No. 36.)—It was, however, customary in proceeding by Quominus capias to state in the Declaration that the plaintiff complained by Bill, and there are some Bills among the documents of the Exchequer of Pleas which do not appear to have been against Prisoners, Attorneys, Officers of the Court, or Members of the House of Commons. Care has been taken to ascertain that they do really belong to the Plea and not to the Equity side of the Exchequer. The procedure, not being by Original Writ, would technically be by Bill, and it is possible that the Bill may, in some cases, have preceded the issue of the Writ of Quominus (which was of the nature of mesne process) and may have been afterwards made to serve the purpose of a Declaration which it resembled in form.

Documents relating to Matters subsequent to Appearance in Personal Actions.

(Nos. 37–53.)

(Nos. 37–53.)—The classes of documents numbered 37–53 are, for the most part, of the same nature as those included in previous Schedules.

Of the Declarations it seems only necessary to remark that those in purely personal actions are kept quite distinct from those in Ejectment and that the latter will be preserved.

With regard to the Præcipes for and drafts or copies of Rules, it may be observed that there is an Entry Book of Rules which is sufficient for all purposes, and which is to be kept.

(No. 49.)—The class No. 49 (Interrogatories and Depositions) might, perhaps, like the Bills, suggest the idea of proceedings on the Equity Side of the Exchequer. It consists, however, merely of one small package of Interrogatories and Depositions used in the Exchequer of Pleas in personal actions only. They came into existence in consequence of Rules or Orders made by consent of the parties.

(Nos. 50–52.)—The "Record Books" and "Writ of Trial" Books are fee-books, the one showing the receipts for sealing, re-sealing, and passing Nisi Prius records, the other for issuing Writs of Trial. From and after the 1st of January 1849, one set of books serves both purposes, and contains also entries relating to fees for sealing and re-sealing Jury-process. The Writs of Trial issued under the Act 3 & 4 William 4. c. 42. s. 17 in cases only in which the debt or demand did not exceed 20*l.* The effect of them was that the issues joined were tried before the Sheriff of the county in which the action was brought, or a Judge of any Court of record for the recovery of debt in that county. They thus related to matters of but very little importance. Neither the Record Books nor the earlier Record Papers, which served the same purpose, nor the Writ of Trial Books, nor the series of Books, in which the fees relating both to Nisi Prius Records and to Writs of Trial are entered, give any information concerning anything subsequent to the issue of Jury process, or the Writ of Trial itself; and they appear, therefore, to be quite useless after three and thirty years, the time which has elapsed since the date of the most recent of them now in the Public Record Office.

* Distringas was substituted for the later process by the fifth section of 7 & 8 Geo. 4. c. 71.

(No. 53.)—The class called "Short Docket Books" (No. 53) consists merely of volumes which appear to have been used for the purpose of reducing into alphabetical order the entries afterwards made in the Docket Books properly so called. They are not what is commonly understood by Dockets of Judgments, but contain the letters of the alphabet with numbers placed opposite to each letter. The corresponding numbers are found attached to the real Dockets of Judgments in the Docket Books proper, which are to be preserved. Every number in the "Short Docket Books" has been ticked off, and every page scored through, showing that no further use was to be made of them.

Documents relating to Prisoners.

(Nos. 54–66.)

(Nos. 54–66.)—The whole of the documents relating to prisoners (Nos. 54–66) are of the same nature as those described in the previous Schedules of Documents of the Courts of Queen's Bench and Common Pleas, and therefore do not require further description.

Proceedings in Error.

(Nos. 67–71.)

(Nos. 67–71.)—Error* alleged to have occurred in the Exchequer of Pleas was examined, and, if necessary, redressed in the Exchequer Chamber. A writ returnable in the Exchequer Chamber was directed to the Barons of the Exchequer; and after affirmance or reversal in the Exchequer Chamber a Writ of Error returnable in the House of Lords could also be directed to the Barons of the Exchequer. These are the only two kinds of Writs of Error included in the present Schedule, for the Statute of 11 Geo. IV. and 1 William IV. c. 70, while assimilating the proceedings in Error upon Judgments in the Courts of King's Bench and Common Pleas to those upon Judgments on the Law side of the Exchequer practically left the latter as they were before.

Some of the Writs of Error and transcripts from the Exchequer of Pleas Judgment Rolls have already been destroyed in accordance with the powers taken under Schedule No. 2† of Valueless Documents of the Court of Queen's Bench. As there explained, the writs and transcripts possibly became intermixed with the Queen's Bench Records, because the Justices of the Queen's Bench constituted in part the Court of Exchequer Chamber for hearing appeals from the Exchequer of Pleas. Those which have been found among the Exchequer of Pleas Records are, of course, of precisely the same nature, and the same reasons for destroying them are equally applicable.

The Writs of Error returnable in the House of Lords after affirmance or reversal in the Exchequer Chamber and the trancripts with them are strictly analogous to similar documents in proceedings following Judgment in the Court of Queen's Bench, and mutatis mutandis appear to be unworthy of preservation on the grounds stated in the Schedule to which reference has already been made.‡

Documents relating to Costs.

(Nos. 72–74.)

(Nos. 72–74.)—With regard to the documents under this head (Nos. 72–74), it seems unnecessary to add anything to that which has already been said in previous Schedules in relation to similar documents in other Courts.

Minor Documents relating to the Admission of Attorneys.

(Nos. 75–77.)

(Nos. 75–77.)—The classes numbered 75–77 hardly call for remark, but it may be mentioned that no documents relating to the admission of Attorneys (in the ordinary acceptation of the term) of earlier date than 1830 have been found in the Public Record Office. None in fact could have existed before the Statute 1 William IV. c. 70., by the tenth section of which it was enacted "that all persons admitted or "admissible to practice as Attorneys in the Courts of King's Bench and Common "Pleas shall be admissible in like manner as Attorneys of the Court of Exchequer, "and be admitted and allowed to practice there as such, upon application to the "Barons of that Court, without being obliged to employ any Clerk in Court in the "capacity of Attorney of the Court of Exchequer, any law or usage to the contrary "notwithstanding; and that it shall be lawful for the Barons of the said Court, and "they are hereby required, to distinguish by their Rules and Orders the fees which "shall continue to be taken by the Sworn and Side Clerks of the Court for the "duties performed as Officers of the Court, similar to the duties of the Officers of "the other Superior Courts, from such fees and charges as shall be allowed to be "taken by the Attorneys so admitted to practice, so that the amount of such fees "and charges upon the whole do not exceed the amount and rate of such fees and "charges as are now allowed upon the taxation of costs."

According to the previous practice there were four Sworn Clerks or Attorneys, each of whom had four Side Clerks in his division, and these twenty officers enjoyed a monopoly of the practice of Attorneys in the Exchequer of Pleas. They were specially exempted from the operation of the Act 2 Geo. 2. c. 23. relating to the admission of Attorneys, by the twenty-seventh section of that Act.

When it was in contemplation to open the Court, and before the passing of the Act by which the opening was effected, there was considerable agitation among the Officers whose interests were about to be affected. Some papers relating to this subject have been found among the records of the Court and are included in this Schedule with other miscellaneous documents for destruction.

Miscellaneous.

Most of the documents classed in the list under the head "Miscellaneous" are of similar character to documents which have been included in previous Schedules.

The copies (e) of Orders of the House of Commons for returns of the number of Writs, &c., in the Exchequer of Pleas and the draft returns to them appear to have come into existence in connexion with the movement in favour of a reform of Common Law Procedure, which lead to a commission on that subject and eventually to the Uniformity of Process Act. They do not convey any information which is not to be found in print.

The "papers (f) relative to the opening of the Office" have reference, as already explained, to the opening of the Court of Exchequer of Pleas for practice by Attorneys in the same manner as in the other Superior Courts of Common Law. They consist of draft memorials of the Officers of the Court, extracts from the works of Madox, Burton, Price, &c., relating to the history of the Exchequer and of Exchequer practice, and other similar matter brought together with the object of showing the rights and privileges of the "Sworn Clerks" and "Side Clerks."

The Bills (h) for absent Commons (Lincoln's Inn) and Petitions and Orders to compound seem to have been in the possession of some of the Officers of the Court. It was the custom for Members of the Inn to compound for absent Commons for their chambers upon payment of half the amount due, the remainder to be paid when the member, if a student, was called to the bar, or if a barrister was called to the Bench, or surrendered his chambers, or left the Society within one year. The intending compounder presented a petition to the Council, and an order to compound was made thereupon. The documents are of no value, and of course are not records of the Court. The same remark applies to (i) the papers left in the Office of the Exchequer by clients for whom the Clerks of the Exchequer acted as Attorneys.

COURT OF EXCHEQUER.

SCHEDULE containing a LIST and PARTICULARS of CLASSES of DOCUMENTS relating to Fines, Amercements, and other Forfeitures, which Documents formerly were or ought to have been in the Offices of the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer, the Clerk of the Foreign Estreats and the Foreign Apposer, or other Offices of the Court of Exchequer, and are now in, but are not considered of sufficient public value to justify their Preservation in, the Public Record Office.

Prepared as required by the Public Record Office Act, 1877 (40 & 41 Vict. c. 55.), section one, and in accordance with the Rules for the disposal of valueless Documents made pursuant thereto, with the approval of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and the further approval of the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, of which Rules Her Majesty has declared her approbation by Order in Council dated the twenty-fifth day of July 1882.

SCHEDULE No. 7 of DOCUMENTS of COURTS mentioned in the third section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838.

NOTE.

Unless otherwise expressly stated the intention is to destroy all documents of the classes included in the present Schedule and dated in and between the years 1715 and 1833, in which last-named year the Offices of Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer, Clerk of the Estreats, and Foreigner Apposer, and certain other Officers of the Court of Exchequer were abolished by the forty-first section of the Act of Parliament 3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 99.

LIST AND PARTICULARS.

Duplicates and copies of Estreats of Fines, Issues, Amercements, Recognisances, and other forfeitures forfeited before Justices of Assise, Clerks of the Market, and Commissioners of Sewers, or at any Sessions of the Peace, or elsewhere.

[Many of the Estreats (which are of considerable bulk) are in duplicate, and there are copies of others. The Clerk of the Estreats formerly had the original in his custody, and the Foreign Apposer the duplicate or the copy. In all cases in which there are duplicates or copies the intention is to retain the original only, and to destroy the duplicate or the copy.]

Repertories to or Short Entries of Estreats (1715–1790).

[These are Rolls containing only memoranda of the delivery of Estreats of Fines, &c., into the Treasurer's Remembrancer's Office. They were made by the Third Sworn Clerk in his office, and signed by the Clerk of the Estreats into whose office the estreats themselves were transmitted.]

Warrants to the Treasurer's Remembrancer or his Deputy for the issue of commissions to administer oaths to Clerks and Deputy Clerks of the Peace and others, and to take their Estreats in the country.

Commissions to take oaths of Clerks of the Peace and others as to true delivery of Estreats.

Oaths or Affidavits and copies of Oaths or Affidavits made by Clerks of the Peace, Town Clerks, Clerks to Commissioners of Sewers, or others, to the effect that the fines, issues, amercements, recognisances, or other forfeitures, set, lost, imposed, or forfeited at the sessions of the several courts, duly appeared in the Estreats annexed.

[The form of the oaths appears in the Act 4 & 5 William and Mary, c. 24. s. 5, and, with slight variations, in the Act 3 George IV. c. 46. s. 3.]

No. 5.—Schedules of Valueless Documents—continued.

Affidavits of "No Estreats" or "No Fines" made by Clerks of the Peace, Town Clerks, Clerks to Commissioners of Sewers, or others.

[These are merely Journal Affidavits to the effect that no fines, issues, amercements, recognisances, or other forfeitures had been set, lost, imposed, or forfeited at the Sessions of the several courts during the time specified in the Affidavits.]

Summonses of the Green Wax.

[The Summons of the Green Wax was founded on certain Estreats and was the process by which the Sheriffs were directed to pay the money into the Exchequer.]

Quarter Sessions Orders and Copies of Orders to Sheriffs to discharge recognisances from the Estreat Rolls delivered to the Sheriffs.

Green Wax Receipts.

[These are merely acknowledgments by the Surveyors and Receivers General of "Green Wax Monies" that they had received from the several Sheriffs the sums due for Fines, Issues, Amercements, and forfeited Recognisances in the particular year specified. The sums appear in the Great Roll which is preserved.]

States of Green Wax Accounts (so-called).

[These are for the most part receipts for fees payable to various officers of the Exchequer upon passing the accounts of the Surveyor and Receiver General of Green Wax; but they are intermixed with a few rough notes and memoranda relating to the same subject.]

Abstracts of payments made to Surveyors of Green Wax on account of Estreats from the Court of King's Bench (by the King's Coroner and Attorney of the Court of King's Bench) and from the Court of Common Pleas.

[Rough books of account, very incomplete.]

Post Fine Acquittances.

[Receipts given on behalf of the Farmers of Post Fines for the several amounts of Post Fines received from the Sheriffs of the several counties. The totals appear upon the Great Roll of the Exchequer, and the Rolls of Estreats of Post Fines themselves showing the details are also preserved, as well as the documents of the Court of Common Pleas which give the same information.]

Accounts of total produce of Post Fines received by the Surveyor and the Receiver General of Green Wax Money, 1798–1800.

[Three rough sheets of paper.]

Castings of Post Fine books.

[Rough unbound sheets, 1787–1825.]

Statements of Wages of Justices of the Peace and Clerks of the Peace.

[Justices of the Peace being (under the Acts 12 Richard II. c. 10. and 14 Richard II. c. 11.) entitled to 4*s*. per day, and the Clerks of the Peace to 2*s*. per day out of the fines and amercements arising at Quarter Sessions, with respect to which sums the Sheriffs were to have allowance in their accounts, these statements were sent into the Exchequer as warrants for such allowance and were examined by the Deputy Foreign Apposer. The series is very defective; most of the information given, and sometimes the whole (though not very important in itself), may be found on the Great Roll, but the original documents from which the particulars are derived should be in the offices of the respective Clerks of the Peace who have had the custody of the Session Books showing the names of the Justices present at each Session.]

Views of Sheriffs' Accounts called "Escrows."

[These are not Escrows in the usual technical sense of the term. The word was used by the Deputy Foreign Apposer in the Court of Exchequer to designate certain documents drawn up by him which contained brief statements relating to a portion only of the Sheriffs' Accounts, that is to say, the totals of the Fines, &c., set, lost, imposed, or forfeited, under the heads of Post Fines, Fines at Assizes, Fines at Sessions of Commissioners of Sewers, and Fines at Sessions of the Peace, &c. In some instances, but not in all, they show deductions on account of sums taken by certain Liberties or expended for "Justices' Wages." The information appears on the Great Roll.]

No. 5.—Schedules of Valueless Documents—concluded.

Affidavits made by Bailiffs of Liberties in support of claims to Fines, &c., by persons or corporations entitled in respect of such Liberties.

[These are Affidavits that particular individuals against whom the Fines, &c., were recovered were resident within the Liberty mentioned. They do not otherwise relate to the title of the Liberty to have such Fines in general, and the fact that the fines, &c., were set over or allowed to the Liberty appears on the Estreat, as marked by the Foreign Apposer, and upon the Great Roll.

Rough Account Books relating to Estreats.

No. 6.—Report made to the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls for the Year ending December 31st, 1886.

My Lord,

I beg to submit to your Lordship the following report :—

During the past 12 months I have sent to the Public Record Office 569 transcripts of State papers, and abstracts of 2,200 documents from the Papal Regesta, making a total of 2,769 items.

These include letters from the Nuntio in Spain during the years 1570, 1571, 1572, 1573, 1574, 1576, 1577, 1578, 1579, 1581, 1582, 1584, 1586, 1587, 1588, 1589, 1591, 1606, 1613, 1614, 1615, 1616, 1618, 1619; some Gambara letters of 1526, 1527; papers from the volumes of the German Nuntiature of 1552, 1553, 1684, 1685, 1688; a few briefs of Pius V. in 1570, 1571, and some papers from the Nunziatura di Fiandra in 1607, 1609, 1611, 1612, 1613, 1614, 1615, 1616, 1617, 1618, 1619.

There is also a letter of Vittoria Colonna in 1536, and a memorandum by Cardinal Pole relating to a bequest made to him by her.

The series of letters from the Spanish Nuntiature is in progress; and from other sources papers of the first half of the Seventeenth Century are being copied.

I have obtained copies of papers from two private collections, and am now employing an amanuensis in a third.

The selection of papers from the Archivio Propaganda Fide is being continued.

I have been able to make corrections in the copy of the document printed by Theiner under the year 1275, and described by him as "Computus decimæ crucis in "regno Scotiæ collectæ."

The Avignon Series of Regesta, as well as that known as the Vatican Series, has to be examined, as there are many documents which do not exist in both.

The Regesta of the seven years of the Pontificate of Benedict XII. are contained in 27 volumes; those of the 11 years of Clement VI. in 148 volumes; those of the 10 years of Innocent VI. in 55 volumes. It will be seen from these examples that the original documents are not all represented in the Volumes of Regesta now in the Vatican Archives.

There are many volumes at St. John Lateran, which, for the present, are nearly inaccessible for purposes of study; and a few have lately been recovered from other places.

The documents in the Regesta are not in chronological order, and the volumes do not follow in all cases the successive years of each pontificate, though for the most part the documents of not more than one year are contained in a single volume.

So far as can be gathered from internal evidence, each volume of the Regesta has been written from the letter books or minutes of the various clerks employed in the several departments of the Chancery, and no attempt has been made to arrange the letters of each department in order of days or of months. In some volumes the documents are classified, as will be seen on examining the abstracts sent to the Public Record Office; but no general idea of the Regesta can be better obtained than by going through the volumes of the first four years of the pontificate of Clement V. that have been printed at the Vatican Press within the last 12 months.

The history of the earliest ecclesiastical and Roman Archives has been lately compiled by De Rossi in his preface to the catalogue of the Palatine MSS.; and the articles by Cardinal Hergenröther, Tosti, Denifle, Carini, Kalten-Brunner, Berger, Pflugk-Hartung, and Offenthal that have appeared in various publications within the last two years make it unnecessary to write a general account of the Regesta.

No. 6.—Report on Roman Transcripts.

A series of volumes complementary to the Regesta is that of the Supplicationes, to which the Papal letters were replies, granting the prayers of the petitioners. Many of these are of great interest, as they contain names of persons that do not appear in the Regesta, and although not original are nearer the source than either the Avignon or Vatican series of Regesta. The names are less phonetically spelled in the Supplicationes than in the answers to them. Several of them illustrate the history of the Universities of Paris and of Oxford in the fourteenth century, and from them a list of masters of arts and of graduates in other faculties might be compiled.

Particulars of local and personal history appear incidentally in the Regesta, and an ecclesiastical document will often illustrate more than at first sight it appears likely to do.

I have the honour to be,
My Lord,
Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,
(Signed) WILL. H. BLISS.

THE FORTY-NINTH REPORT

OF

THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg leave to submit to Your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1887; pursuant to the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. § 17.

First, I have to record the loss which the Office has suffered by the resignation of Mr. J. Edwards, the Secretary, and the death of Mr. F. S. Haydon, an Assistant Keeper.

Mr. Edwards entered the public service in April 1840 as a Junior Clerk. He was promoted to the Second Class in August 1855, and to the First Class of Assistant Keepers in August 1861. Upon the resignation of Mr. Roberts, Mr. Edwards was, in October 1866, appointed to succeed as Secretary of the Public Record Office. He also acted as Accounting Officer of this Department from that date until the end of the year 1873, when the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury nominated the Deputy Keeper to be Accounting Officer. He resigned his place on the 31st of March 1887. Throughout his official career Mr. Edwards was chiefly engaged in the transaction and registration of current business in the Secretary's Department, and in rendering necessary assistance to four successive Deputy Keepers. In 1860, Sir Francis Palgrave took occasion to acknowledge publicly (in the Twenty-first Report of the Deputy Keeper, p. v) the aid which he had received from him in the preparation of his Annual Reports to Your Majesty, and Sir T. Duffus Hardy and Sir William Hardy successively received similar aid from him. Mr. Edwards's regularity and integrity have been very valuable to this Office.

Mr. Frank Scott Haydon, B.A., was appointed a Junior Clerk in this Office in November 1845, a Senior Clerk in June 1860, and an Assistant Keeper in May 1885. He died in October 1887. During the last few years of his life, he was accounted second to no officer of this Department in knowledge of the writing, language, and usages of mediæval England. The first instalment of his elaborate Calendar of the Patent Rolls of the reign of Edward I. was printed in the Appendix to the Forty-second Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records, and further portions have been printed since, the Calendar for the eighth year of the reign being given in the Appendix to this Report (pp. 1–200).

In addition to work done during official hours, Mr Haydon edited, for the series of Chronicles and Memorials of the Middle Ages published by the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury, under the direction of the Master of the Rolls, the Latin Chronicle known as "Eulogium Historiarum," which was issued in three volumes between the years 1858 and 1863.

The vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. Edwards was filled by the promotion of Mr. J. J Cartwright, a Senior Clerk in this Department, to be Secretary of the Public Record Office, a post for which his previous experience had made him specially qualified. The vacancy among the Assistant Keepers caused by the death of Mr. Haydon was filled by the promotion of Mr. W. N. Sainsbury, a Senior Clerk. Mr. G. F. Handcock and Mr. G. H. Overend, Junior Clerks, were promoted to fill the vacancies thus caused among the Senior Clerks.

§ I. NEW RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The following Rules and Regulations were made by the Master of the Rolls in April 1887, and laid before both Houses of Parliament within six weeks, as required by the ninth section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838:—

"RULES AND REGULATIONS made by the MASTER OF THE ROLLS respecting the public use of the RECORDS and DOCUMENTS in his custody.

"1. In these Rules and Regulations, the word Record shall include a set of Records or Documents comprised in a single reference in the official Calendars, Catalogues, or Indexes.

"2. The Search Rooms shall be open to persons desiring to inspect or search Records or Documents on every day, except Sunday, Christmas Day to New Year's Day inclusive, Good Friday, Easter Eve, Easter Monday, Easter Tuesday, Monday and Tuesday in Whitsuntide, Her Majesty's Birthday, Her Majesty's Coronation Day, and days appointed for public fasts or thanksgiving.

"3. The hours of admission and attendance shall be from 10 to 4 o'clock, except on Saturdays, when they shall be from 10 to 2.

"4. Every person proposing to inspect or search Records or Documents shall write his or her name and address, daily, in the attendance book kept by the hall porter.

"5. No umbrellas, sticks, or bags shall be taken into any Search Room, and no parcels shall be placed upon the tables.

"6. A separate ticket shall be clearly written and signed by every person desiring to inspect or search any Record or Document for each Record or Document required, and such ticket shall be given by such person to the officer in charge of the room before any Record or Document can be produced to the applicant.

"7. No person shall have more than three Records or Documents, inclusive, out at a time.

"8. Records and Documents when done with shall forthwith be returned by the person to whom they have been produced, to the officer in charge of the room, or to one of the attendants, in exchange for the tickets referring to them, and every such person shall be held responsible for the Records or Documents issued to him or her, so long as his or her ticket shall remain with an officer of the Public Record Office.

"9. A fresh ticket, clearly written and signed by the person to whom Records or Documents have been produced, and bearing the words "kept out," shall be required for every Record and Document kept out from one day to another for the convenience of such person.

"10. No person shall lean upon any Records, Documents, or Books belonging to the Public Record Office, or place upon them the paper on which he or she is writing.

"11. No person other than an officer of the Record Office shall make any mark, in pencil or otherwise, upon any Record, Document, or Book belonging to the Public Record Office.

"12. Ink shall not be used in the public Search Rooms by any person admitted thereto for the purpose of inspecting or searching Records or Documents.

"13. Tracings of Records or Documents shall not be made by any person without specific permission from the officer in charge of the room.

"14. A list of all Calendars, Catalogues, and Indexes intended for the use of the public shall be kept in each of the Search Rooms, and shall be revised from time to time. Calendars, Catalogues, and Indexes not mentioned therein, or withdrawn therefrom, shall not be produced in any Search Room without an order from the Deputy Keeper.

"15. Records not mentioned in any such list, and Records in course of arrangement, shall not be produced without an order from the Deputy Keeper.

"16. Records and Documents of exceptional value, and Records and Documents in fragile condition, shall be produced singly, or subject to such conditions as the Officer in charge of the room shall, in the particular case, think requisite for their safety and integrity.

"17. Documents deposited in the Public Record Office by other Departments shall be produced only on the order of their respective heads, or subject to such conditions as they, with the concurrence of the Master of the Rolls, shall from time to time impose.

"18. Persons admitted to the Search Rooms shall replace the Calendars, Catalogues, and Indexes used by them on the shelves as soon as they are done with.

"19. Records, Documents, Books, or other articles belonging to the Public Record Office, shall not be removed from one room to another without the specific permission of the officer in charge of the room.

"20. Silence shall be maintained in the Search Rooms, as far as possible.

"21. The officer in charge of any Search Room shall be empowered to exclude persons from the Public Record Office for any of the following reasons:—Wilful breach of any of the foregoing Rules and Regulations, persistent disregard of the officer's authority, damage of any sort to any Record or article belonging to the Public Record Office, conduct, language, habits, unseemly dress, or any other matter offensive, or likely to be reasonably offensive, to others using the Public Record Office. Provided always, that the exclusion of any person shall be forthwith notified in writing with the cause thereof to the Deputy Keeper, who shall inquire into the circumstances, and whose order, unless reversed by the Master of the Rolls, shall be final.

"22. Inasmuch as a large number of Records of the Courts of Law and Equity have been of late years transferred into the Public Record Office, and are there frequently consulted for other than literary and historical purposes, fees shall be paid according to the table hereunder set forth for the production of such Records, unless the applicant satisfies the Deputy Keeper that such production is required solely for the purpose of literary or historical research.

"The other fees specified in the said table shall be payable as therein mentioned.

(Signed) "ESHER, M.R."

About six months after the promulgation of the foregoing Rules and Regulations, the Master of the Rolls received the following Memorial relating thereto:—

"MY LORD,

"WE, the undersigned, on behalf of the Public, desire to draw your Lordship's attention to some of the New Rules and Regulations made relative to the Records deposited in the Public Record Office; namely, to Rules 12 and 22, and to the first two items in the Table of Fees.

"We beg to suggest that these should be abrogated or modified, on the ground that they press heavily on Antiquaries, Historians, Genealogists, Barristers, Solicitors, Clergymen, Record Agents, Copyists, and the Public generally, while not conferring benefit on anyone.

"We make the application on behalf both of those who frequent the Round Literary Search Room, and of those who frequent the Long Literary (sic) Search Room.

"If it be possible to make distinction, we suggest that the Round Search Room, which is used more especially for literary and copying purposes, should be excepted from the action of Rule 12.

"With regard particularly to Rule 12, which prohibits the use of ink, we beg to state that no satisfactory substitute for ink exists; that all pencil-writings are objectionable in themselves; are subject to early deterioration and obliteration; and entail the necessity of immediately re-writing in ink the matter obtained; a very severe task when the whole of the six hours of the day during which the Record Office is open have been employed in writing the matter in pencil.

"Probably your Lordship is aware that soon after Sir Francis Palgrave died, Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, who succeeded him as Deputy Keeper, suggested to Lord Romilly the use of ink, which his Lordship permitted and which has been in use for more than twenty years.

"With regard to Rule 22, and to the first two items in the Table of Fees, we suggest that these should be modified, so that the first two items be either abolished altogether, or diminished; for they are practically prohibitive: seeing that in the case of a protracted search, the total cost amounts to a large sum."

This Memorial bore sixty-four signatures, of which seven had reference to the protest "as regards Rule No. 12" only. Among the signatories were several authors and editors of historical and topographical works, and the Hon. Secretaries of the William Salt Archæological Society and the London and Middlesex Archæological Society.

About two months later, the Master of the Rolls received the following counter-Memorial:—

"My Lord,

Having knowledge of a Memorial recently addressed to your Lordship, asking that the use of ink may be again permitted in the Search Rooms of the Public Record Office, we, the undersigned, in the interests of the due preservation of our National Records, humbly beg your Lordship not to comply with the request of the Memorialists."

This counter-Memorial bore seventy-eight signatures. Among the signatories were several authors and editors of historical and topographical works, and the Principal Librarian of the British Museum, the Keeper of the Manuscripts, and three other officers of the Manuscript Department of the British Museum; Garter King of Arms, Norroy King of Arms, and six other officers of the College of Arms; the Director of the Society of Antiquaries; Bodley's Librarian; the Librarians of the Corporation of London, the Athenæum Club, the London Library, Sion College, Oriel College, Corpus Christi College, and Pembroke College, Oxford; the Director of the Folk Lore Society; one of the Secretaries of the Royal Geographical Society; and the Hon. Secretaries of the Society of Biblical Archæology, the Surtees Society, the Yorkshire Archæological and Topographical Society, the Kent Archæological Society, the Chester Archæological and Historic Society, the Bristol and Gloucestershire Archæological Society, the Harleian Society, and the Pipe Roll Society.

No change has been made in the rule as to the use of ink, and a very slight change only has been made, during the present year, in the rule as to the payment of fees.

I beg to submit a few remarks upon the Rules and Regulations which are now in force.

(As to Rule 22.)—By the Act 1 & 2 Vict. cap. 94. sect. ix. it is enacted that the Master of the Rolls shall have power to make Rules for the admission of such persons as ought to be admitted to the use of the Records, Calendars, Catalogues, and Indexes in his custody, and to suspend, alter, or rescind such Rules, or any of them, and to fix the amount of fees (if any) which he shall think proper to be paid for the use thereof respectively, and from time to time to vary the same as he shall think fit. Every such Rule is required to be laid before both Houses of Parliament within six weeks after it is made, or after the next meeting of Parliament.

In exercise of the powers thus conferred upon him, Lord Langdale, in July 1840, made a Table of Fees to be paid for the use of the Records, Calendars, and Indexes, and a copy of this Table, which was in due course presented to both House of Parliament was given in the Second Report of Deputy Keeper of the Public Records (Appendix I. p. 15).

In July 1851, certain noblemen, gentlemen, and ladies presented a Memorial to the then Master of the Rolls, requesting that literary inquirers should be allowed to have access to the Public Records without payment of fees. Some of the reasons in favour of the proposed change were stated in the Memorial, and others were subsequently given in the Thirteenth Report of the Deputy Keeper, by Sir Francis Palgrave, who had advocated a somewhat similar proposal as far back as the year 1839. The Memorialists and the Deputy Keeper alike drew a sharp distinction between searches conducted for historical or other literary objects, and searches conducted for legal or professional purposes, and this distinction was no less clearly recognised by Sir John Romilly in his reply to the Memorial.

The result of the application was that the Master of the Rolls authorised the Deputy Keeper to grant permission to any literary inquirer to consult the Calendars, Indexes, and Records, and to take notes, extracts, or copies in pencil, without payment of fees, provided that he was satisfied that the search was to be made for a bonâ fide literary purpose. Regulations to this effect received the approbation of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury in November 1851. A new Table of Fees, and a new set of Regulations for the gratuitous admission of literary inquirers to consult the Public Records, including the State Papers, were issued by the same Master of the Rolls, early in the year 1859.

The subject of the Fees was again raised, in a different manner, by Sir Francis Palgrave's successor, Mr. T. Duffus Hardy, in his Report on the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1863. While defending the policy of granting to literary inquirers privileges which were denied to persons searching the Records for professional purposes, he suggested that all applicants, " whether for literary or legal purposes, should have the gratuitous

"use of the Calendars and Records." The advantages of such a change were not very clearly stated, but it seems to have been thought by some that literary inquirers might abuse their privilege of free search, by acting as Record Agents, and selling the information obtained gratuitously at a lower rate than that charged by others not exempt from the payment of fees. It may also have been considered that the admission of certain persons to special privileges with regard to national documents was invidious.

Any objections of this sort might, in my opinion, have been met by a rule making the exaction or the remission of fees to depend upon the character and date of the documents, and not upon the status of the persons wishing to see them. It would have been easy to draw up a list of comparatively modern records which would rarely be wanted save for legal or professional purposes, and to fix a table of fees for their production, while making the earlier records accessible to all persons alike, subject to due precautions for their safety. This course, however, was not adopted, and, so far as I am aware, it was not even proposed.

In May 1866, at or about the time of the opening of the new Search Room in the eastern part of the General Repository of Records, the Master of the Rolls abolished all fees for searches and inspection of Records, and a new set of Regulations for the conduct of business in the Search Rooms was issued two months later. (Twenty-eighth Report of the Deputy Keeper, p. iv.)

In order to remove any ambiguity, Sir George Jessel issued a revised set of Rules and Regulations, with a Table of Fees annexed, in May 1875, and these, supplemented by three Rules made by the present Master of the Rolls in April 1886, were in force until the 30th of April 1887.

Whatever may have been the object or advantage of abolishing the payment of Fees for the production of Records, in 1866, circumstances have greatly changed since then. At that time the latest Records of the Court of Chancery preserved in this Office were the Bills and Answers of the year 1800, and the series of Decrees and Orders, and that of Reports and Certificates did not extend later than the year 1700. Between the years 1868 and 1882, however, and notably in the latter of these years, large transfers were made, and at the present time this Office is the repository of all the Records of the Court of Chancery down to the year 1869 inclusive—Bills and Answers, Decrees and Orders, Reports and Certificates, Petitions and Affidavits, alike.

The reception of these books into the Public Record Office has materially altered the general character of the work done there, and in 1885 and 1886 the Legal Search Room was almost daily crowded by solicitors engaged in ordinary professional business, and persons who imagined themselves to be entitled to unclaimed funds in Chancery. The number of applications for the production of documents in that room rose consequently from 7,091 in 1872 to 18,041 in 1885, of which no less than 4,556 were for Orders, 2,045 for Bills, 1,957 for Reports, and 1,330 for Affidavits, of the Court of Chancery. In 1886, the number of applications in that room rose to 24,117.

Considering the great amount of labour thus entailed upon the staff of this Department by applications from persons working for private pecuniary advantage, it has been thought desirable to impose moderate fees upon the production of modern legal records, except in those rare cases in which they are wanted for literary purposes. Fees are charged at the Royal Courts of Justice for the production of similar Records of the Court of Chancery subsequent to the year 1869, and, under somewhat analogous conditions, at the Register Office of Wills in Somerset House.

It will be seen by the Table in § II. that the effect of Rule 22 has been to cause a sale, between the months of May and December 1887, inclusive, of Inland Revenue Stamps to the value of 102*l.* 14*s.*, thereby reducing by that amount the nett cost of the maintenance of this Department. It has also tended to reduce the number of futile applications for documents, thus accelerating the rate of production to bonâ fide searchers.

(As to Rule 12.)—For the first 27 years after the establishment of the Public Record Office, by Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94., persons resorting to the Search Rooms for legal or literary purposes were not allowed to make copies or to take notes otherwise than in pencil. No petition or remonstrance on the subject is known to have been addressed to the Master of the Rolls or to the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records during the whole of that period. The first suggestion in favour of the use of ink seems to have been made in 1864 by the then Deputy Keeper, Mr. T. Duffus Hardy, and, two years later, the use of ink was allowed for the first time by some new "Regulations for the Search Rooms," issued by him, and afterwards re-issued, with some modifications, by Sir George Jessel, in 1875.

Whatever force there may have been in the suggestion made by the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records in 1864, the conditions are widely different now.

Firstly, there has been a vast increase in the number of documents produced in the Search Rooms. In the Literary Search Room alone, it has risen from 12,516 in 1863 to 28,528 in 1886. In other words, the number of documents rendered liable to damage has more than doubled.

Secondly, experience has shown that a considerable number of documents have been stained with ink, which, by its colour, is known to be modern. This could hardly be otherwise. Considering that comparatively few of the records are in the form of books, and that many consist of consecutive rolls, others of a number of long strips of parchment filed together at one end, and others again of large single skins covered with writing, it is difficult even for the most careful students so to place them on the table as to be able to take extracts from them without sometimes holding a pen or pencil over them. These documents, again, which have writing on both sides, are liable to injury from ink spilt on the table no less than from ink spilt directly on them. There is reason to believe that in some instances documents have come into contact with the inky pens of persons occupying adjacent seats.

Thirdly, the invention of indelible pencils has effected a great change in the conditions under which copies or extracts can be made. Having regard to the fact that the Public Records are preserved in this office not merely for the use and profit of those who now frequent the Search Rooms, but for permanent safe custody, it might have been necessary to revert to the system which prevailed before the year 1866. Now, however, ordinary blacklead pencils are not the only alternative to ink, for indelible pencils of every variety of hardness and darkness can be obtained at a very low cost. It is known that some men of business and literary men use those indelible pencils in preference to ink, and that printers are quite accustomed to dealing with manuscripts executed with them. Samples have been subjected to the severest possible test with india-rubber, and it has been found that marks made with certain pencils can hardly be obliterated. Upon the whole it appears that careful copies made in this manner are good enough for almost all practical purposes; and it may further be remarked that persons requiring copies of exceptional clearness can have ordinary writing reproduced at a very small cost by a "type-writer." A stock of indelible pencils is now kept in the Search Rooms for the convenience of the public resorting thither.

The use of ink is not allowed in the Registry of the Court of Probate, Somerset House, where transcripts only are produced, nor ordinarily in the General Register House at Edinburgh, and the Public Record Office in Dublin.

(As to Rule 14.)—In order that the Records may be reduced to a systematic arrangement and made more easy of access, it is sometimes necessary to transfer documents, or groups of documents, from one class to another, altering the press-marks. A whole portfolio or bundle of "Miscellanea" may, moreover, entirely disappear, the contents being distributed according to their nature and date, and incorporated with other documents of a like character. New lists are from time to time made, to supersede lists which have become obsolete. Many of these older lists were drawn up before the concentration of the national archives in one Repository, and others of more recent date have been invalidated by the frequent re-arrangement of the shelves in order to provide accommodation for accruing Records. The arrangements now in progress will, I hope, be final, and I look forward to issuing, in instalments, a complete catalogue of those documents in the Record Office which are open to the public. In the meanwhile students cannot obtain any useful information from obsolete lists, and much loss of official time is likely to ensue from references being made to them instead of to those by which they have been superseded.

(As to Rule 15.)—Inasmuch as the cataloguing of documents preserved in the Public Record Office has by no means kept pace with successive transmissions thereto, large classes unfortunately remain unarranged and uncalendared. It is obviously unsafe and undesirable to produce them in bulk in the Search Rooms until they have been stamped with the official stamp, and designated by some number or mark by which they should be in future known. And, again, it is almost equally undesirable to hinder the work of the officers by producing in the Search Rooms the very documents upon which they are engaged.

(As to Rule 7.)—The object of this Rule, which is based upon one of the Rules issued in 1866, is twofold, to provide against the loss or misplacement of documents which have been consulted in the Search Rooms, and to put all searchers upon an equality. Inasmuch as applications for the production of documents receive attention in strict order, according to the time at which they are made, a searcher applying for a considerable number of documents from different parts of the Repository might easily monopolise the services of the staff of workmen who have to find and produce them, and so interfere with the due supply to others.

Every effort is made to ensure rapid and regular production in the Search Rooms, but persons unconnected with the Office are liable to under-estimate the time necessary for the production of documents belonging to certain classes. While bound volumes of State Papers, and Rolls belonging to any of the principal series, duly ticketed, can be produced almost as quickly as printed books in a library, single documents, preserved among a large number of others, in large portfolios or bundles, in dark rooms, cannot be identified without considerable trouble, especially if they are not clearly numbered. Improvements in this direction are in progress, but, considering the vast quantity of documents to be dealt with, they can be only gradual.

I need scarcely add in conclusion that the object of the new Rules and Regulations is not to restrict the legitimate use of the Records by the public, but to protect these priceless documents from injury. Even as matters stand, some of those most frequently consulted in the Search Rooms have suffered more from wear and tear during the last twenty years than during the previous centuries of their existence.

§ V. CALENDARS, INVENTORIES, AND INDEXES.

PATENT ROLLS:

A further instalment of the Calendar of the Patent Rolls of the reign of Edward I., prepared by the late Mr. F. S. Haydon, with the assistance of Mr. H. Rodney, is printed in the Appendix (pp. 1–200). It relates to the eighth year of the reign.

I stated in my last Report (p. vii) that, owing to the pressure of other work, this Calendar would not be carried beyond the end of the ninth year of the reign of Edward I. Considering, however, the importance of the mediæval Patent Rolls as an unbroken series of registers of public affairs, I am making arrangements for a systematic Calendar of them upon a much simpler plan than that recently followed.

ANCIENT DEEDS:

Considerable progress has been made with the Calendar, or Descriptive Catalogue, which was begun in 1886, as mentioned in my last Report. A volume now in the press will give abstracts of about 5,400 deeds, being about 1,800 of each of the following series:—

Series A.—Ancient Deeds of the Treasury of the Receipt of the Exchequer, formerly preserved at the Chapter House, Westminster.

Series B.—Ancient Deeds of the Court of Augmentations.
Series C.—Ancient Deeds of the Court of Chancery, formerly preserved at the Tower of London and the Rolls' Chapel.

PAPAL BULLS:

The Inventory, or Calendar, of all the Papal Bulls preserved in the Public Record Office has been completed. The entries in it will eventually be incorporated in the Calendar of Ancient Correspondence noticed below.

RETURN OF MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT:

The Index to the first volume, occupying 438 pages of print in folio, was almost ready for issue at the end of the year 1887.

Further additions have been made to the lists of Members of Parliament, from documents hitherto unsorted, but now added to the series to which they properly belong.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM:

Considerable progress has been made with the tabular Index of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive. It is hoped that this work will be ready for press in 1889.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE:

A Calendar has been begun which will embrace all the mediæval Letters, Diplomatic Documents, Papal Bulls, and other analogous material preserved in the Public Record Office, otherwise than in the form of entries upon the great series of Chancery Rolls, such as the Patent Rolls, Close Rolls, French Rolls, Almain Rolls, Roman Rolls. It will contain, inter alia, fuller abstracts of the so-called "Royal Letters" than those given in Appendices to the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Reports of the Deputy Keeper and in the MS. Calendar in the Search Room, and abstracts of a very great number of similar letters, hitherto inaccessible among the unsorted Records from the Tower of London, which have come to light in the course of the classification which is still in progress.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS:

Mr. J. E. S. B. Sharp has made considerable progress with the Calendar of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery between the reigns of Richard II. and Philip and Mary, which was commenced in 1886, as stated in my last Report. A specimen of the work, dealing with part of the contents of Bundle 3, is printed, with some introductory remarks upon the character of the documents in Bundles 3 to 30, in Appendix II. (pp. 201–208). The Calendar will shortly be issued separately. Bundles 1 and 2 consist exclusively of documents which were given in extenso at the beginning of the first and second volumes of the "Calendar of the Proceedings in Chancery in the "Reign of Queen Elizabeth," printed by command of King George IV., in 1827–1832, under the direction of the Record Commission.

Mr. Sharp's Calendar embraces not only the Bills and Answers prior to the year 1467, mentioned in the Fifth Report of the Deputy Keeper (Appendix II., pp. 38–45), but a great number of others which have been discovered within the last two years in the course of the classification already noticed. Early Bills and Answers to which no approximate date can be assigned, and others of more certain early date which may yet be found, will be calendared hereafter.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS:

A Calendar of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, supplementary to the Calendar printed in 1827–1832, has been begun.

STAR CHAMBER PROCEEDINGS:

It was stated in my last Report that a continuation of the Calendar of the Bills and Answers filed in the Court of Star Chamber in the reign of Henry VIII. had been set in hand. The portion of it done by Mr. R. F. Isaacson, in the intervals of other work, during the years 1886 and 1887, and during the early part of the present year, is printed in a tabular form in the Appendix (pp. 376–594).

DECREES AND ORDERS OF THE COURT OF EXCHEQUER:

The Chronological Index to the Entry Books of Decrees and Orders of the Court of Exchequer (Queen's Remembrancer's Department) of the reign of Charles I. has been completed, having been brought down to the 32nd volume of the Third Series of Decrees and Orders. It can now be consulted in the Legal Search Room.

CERTIFICATES OF RESIDENCE:

These documents, which form a portion of the so-called "Ancient Miscellanea" of the Exchequer, and which have hitherto been quite inaccessible to the public, have been taken in hand. In the arrangement of them an alphabetical system has been adopted, by which any document sent into the Exchequer to prove change of residence on the part of a person liable to taxation will be traced in a few minutes. These certificates range in date from the reign of Henry VIII. to that of Charles II. inclusive. Very many of them have been found to be in the last stage of decay, and the labour of repairing them will be very great.

LEASES AND PENSIONS (AUGMENTATION OFFICE):

The ancient manuscript Index to the enrolments of Leases and Pensions granted by the Crown out of the property of the suppressed monasteries, being dilapidated by use, and otherwise defective, has been superseded by a revised list prepared by Mr. H. Rodney, under the superintendence of Mr. W. D. Selby. It is printed in the Appendix (pp. 209–375).

BILLS AND ANSWERS OF THE COURT OF EXCHEQUER:

The tabulated Calendar of Bills and Answers of the Court of Exchequer (Queen's Remembrancer's Department) of the reign of Elizabeth, begun in 1886, has been continued during the past year, and the portion of it dealing with the counties in alphabetical order up to Derbyshire was completed by the end of 1887.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS:

Considerable progress has been made with the exhaustive Inventory of the Accounts of the Ministers appointed to collect the rents and other issues of lands pertaining to the Crown, the commencement of which was announced in my last Report. This work, which is of great magnitude, will not be finished before 1890 at earliest.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF REQUESTS:

A Calendar of the Bills, Answers, &c. of the Court of Requests, belonging to the reigns of Henry VII. and Henry VIII., hitherto unnumbered and inaccessible to the public, has been begun upon the system adopted with regard to the Early Chancery Proceedings.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

Mr. J. Gairdner, who has been assisted by Mr. C. T. Martin and Mr. R. H Brodie, has proceeded with the important Calendar of all public Documents in England relating to the reign of Henry VIII. A tenth volume, which is the fifteenth instalment of this work, was published in 1887 (see § IX.).

STATE PAPERS, RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH:

Mr. H. C. Hamilton has continued his Calendar, of which four volumes have been published. More than half of the fifth volume had been passed for press by the end of the year 1887.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.:

Mr. W. D. Hamilton had, at the end of the year 1887, almost completed the revision of the proof sheets of a volume dealing with the year 1644.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES:

Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury has continued his Calendar, of which six volumes have been published. A volume dealing with State Papers relating to America and the West Indies between the years 1669 and 1675 was well advanced at press at the end of the year 1887.

TREASURY PAPERS:

Mr. J. Redington has continued his Calendar, of which five volumes have been published. A volume dealing with the papers between the years 1720 and 1728 was in the press at the end of the year 1887.

HOME OFFICE PAPERS:

A Calendar of Home Office Papers of the reign of William and Mary, preserved in the Public Record Office, has been begun upon the system adopted by Mr. J. Redington and Mr. R. A. Roberts in their respective volumes of Calendar of Home Office Papers of the reign of George III.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the previous year, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described, especially those of the Chancery Division. Large additions will consequently be made to some classes already existing, and some new classes are being formed. Some account of this work will be given in a future Report.

§ VII. OPERATIONS BY WORKMEN.

The following table shows the principal operations of the year 1887:—

—	Rolls, Files, or Suits.	Bundles.	Membranes.	Leaves.	Volumes.
Numbered -	2,626	203	26,256	36,537	1,489

This table does not include the dusting, preliminary flattening, and ticketing of the contents of boxes and sacks of documents hitherto unsorted. The classes to which most attention has been given have been Chancery Proceedings, Court Rolls, Ancient Deeds, Ministers' Accounts, Certificates of Residence, Feet of Fines, Duchy of Lancaster Pleadings, Star Chamber Proceedings, Letters and Papers of the reign of Henry VIII., State Papers, Domestic 1642–60.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

The recent fixture of a lift in the main Repository of Records has facilitated the production of Documents in the Search Rooms.

I have requested Your Majesty's Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings to provide incandescent electric lights for the three Search Rooms and the adjoining passages. Application has also been made to the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury to sanction the removal of the small house known as 1 and 2, Rolls Yard, as being a source of danger to the adjoining buildings, and of practical inconvenience to this Department.

The work of the Inspecting Officers has been continued in virtue of the first section of the above Act.

Following the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 25th of July 1882, they have further proceeded with the examination of Records of the Court of Exchequer. They have had to select one by one Documents considered worthy of preservation from a large amount of Documents of a worthless nature comprised in Schedules 7 and 8 of Records of Courts mentioned in the third section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838, and more of this work remained to be done at the close of the year 1887.

The Seventh Schedule, which was mentioned in my last Report (pp. xii and 641), was again laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 15th of February 1887.

The Eighth Schedule was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 21st of July 1887. The Documents included in it relate principally to the business and accounts of Sheriffs. Considering the unusual length of the Appendices to this Report, I have not included this Schedule among them.

In pursuance of the first two of the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 22nd of May 1883, the First Schedule of valueless Documents existing or accruing in the Office of Your Majesty's Postmaster General (mentioned in my last Report, p. xiii) was laid before the House of Commons on the 11th of March, and before the House of Lords on the 15th of March 1887.

In pursuance of the extending Rule applicable to Departments of the Government (of which Your Majesty's approbation was declared by Order in Council on the 26th of June 1886) a Schedule of valueless Documents in the Office of the Paymaster General for the business of the Supreme Court of Judicature was also laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 28th of February 1887.

All the above-mentioned Schedules were submitted to both Houses of Parliament for a period of four weeks.

A Schedule of valueless Documents of the War Office deposited at the Public Record Office has been commenced. This will be prepared under Rule 4 of the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 22nd of May 1883, and under the Rules also approved by Your Majesty on the 25th of July 1882.

Some consideration has been given by the Inspecting Officers to the Documents to be included in the Ninth Schedule of Courts mentioned in the third section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838.

Questions from Government Departments relating to valueless Documents continue to be referred to the Inspecting Officers, and the replies to these sometimes require much consideration. Even when a Schedule has been made of valueless Documents in a particular Department, a necessity for further Schedules is liable to arise when the Department finds that there is no further use for some classes of Documents, or that some change of practice has occurred by virtue of an Act of Parliament or otherwise.

By a return obtained from Your Majesty's Stationery Office, it appears that the weight of the worthless Admiralty paper Documents relating to the administration of wages and effects of deceased Seamen and Marines, referred to in my last Report and now destroyed, amounted to 6 tons 14 cwt.

The number of worthless Documents included in the Post Office Schedule is enormous, and the quantity of waste paper, not only from that Department, but also from many others for which Schedules have been duly submitted to both Houses of Parliament, increases year after year with the expansion of the business. All this can now be legally sent to the Stationery Office, to be afterwards profitably converted into new paper.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

The following Volumes have been published during the year 1887 :—

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, DURING THE COMMONWEALTH, preserved in Her Majesty's Public Record Office. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green. Vol. XIII.—1659–60.

This volume brings the main series of Commonwealth papers down to the Restoration period, and so forms the connecting link between previous volumes in the same series and those dealing with the early part of the reign of Charles II., viz., the years 1660–1667, published some years ago. The chief events of the last eleven months of the Interregnum are fully illustrated by its contents, notably the premature rising of Sir George Booth and the great precautions taken to prevent its spreading throughout the country. The volume also shows the relations of the Parliament with General Monk when commanding in Scotland, and with Montague (afterwards Earl of Sandwich) at the head of the fleet.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I., preserved in Her Majesty's Public Record Office. Edited by William Douglas Hamilton, Esq., F.S.A. Vol. XVIII.—1641–1643.

The years included in this volume are among the most remarkable in English history, embracing, as they do, the events immediately preceding and following the outbreak of the Civil Wars. It is impossible to mention here in detail the many important and interesting documents relating to this period, of which abstracts are now printed for the first time.

CALENDAR OF LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII., preserved in Her Majesty's Public Record Office, the British Museum, &c. Edited by James Gairdner, Esq. Vol. X.—1536.

The first six months only of 1536 are concerned in this volume. The papers noted in it continue the narrative of Henry's difficulties with the Pope and foreign Princes arising out of the question of his divorce from Katherine, the letters of Chapuys on these and other topics being of special interest. The death of Katherine, and the trial and execution of Anne Boleyn, also fall within this period. The visitation of the religious houses in the North of England was begun early in the year, and made great progress under Legh and Layton, whose reports contain much unpublished matter about monastic life.

The number of volumes of Calendars sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1887 has been 410, making a total of 16,524.

At the end of the year there were eight volumes of this series in the press.

§ XI. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following volumes were issued during the year 1887 :—

CHRONICA ROGERI DE WENDOVER, SIVE FLORES HISTORIARUM. Vol. II. Edited by Henry Gay Hewlett, Esq.

Keeper of the Records of the Land Revenue. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

This edition gives that portion only of Roger of Wendover's Chronicle which can be accounted an original authority.

THE HISTORIANS OF THE CHURCH OF YORK, AND ITS ARCHBISHOPS. Vol. II. Edited by James Raine, M.A., Canon of York. (Publication sanctioned in 1872.)

This volume contains Lives of St. Oswald, by Eadmer, Senatus, Prior of Worcester, and others. A history of four Archbishops of York, Thomas I., Gerard, Thomas II., and Thurstan, by Hugh the Chantor, is here printed in its entirety for the first time, with other prose and metrical chronicles, including that attributed to Thomas Stubbs. The long-continued struggle between the sees of York and Canterbury is well illustrated both in this and the preceding volume.

CHRONICLES OF THE REIGNS OF STEPHEN, HENRY II., AND RICHARD I. Vol. III. Edited by Richard Howlett, Esq., of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

This volume contains the "Gesta Stephani Regis," the Chronicle of Richard of Hexham, the "Relatio de Standardo" of St. Aelred of Rievaulx, the poem of Jordan Fantosme, and the Chronicle of Richard of Devizes. The preface points out many obscure events, especially in Stephen's reign, upon which these Chronicles throw entirely new light.

THE METRICAL CHRONICLE OF ROBERT OF GLOUCESTER. Edited by William Aldis Wright, Esq., M.A. Parts I. and II. (Publication sanctioned in 1868.)

The date of the composition of this Chronicle is placed about the year 1300, and the writer appears to have been an eye-witness of many events which he describes in the latter portion of the work. The language in which it is written was the dialect of Gloucestershire at that time. The first half of it is taken from Geoffrey of Monmouth and Henry of Huntingdon; William of Malmesbury appears to be the authority later on. Robert of Gloucester's Chronicle terminates abruptly in 1270, with the murder of Henry son of Richard Earl of Cornwall by Guy de Montfort.

THE LETTER BOOKS OF THE MONASTERY OF CHRIST CHURCH, CANTERBURY. Edited by Joseph Brigstocke Sheppard, Esq., LL.D. Vol. I. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

The Letters printed in this volume were chiefly written between the years 1296 and 1333. Among the more notable writers were Prior Henry of Eastry, Prior Richard Oxenden, and the Archbishops Raynold and Meopham. The letters do not touch much upon the political events of the period in which they were written, their interest and importance lying rather in the pictures they present of monastic life and discipline.

CHRONICLE OF ROBERT OF BRUNNE. Edited by Frederick James Furnivall, Esq., M.A., of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, Barrister-at-Law. Parts I. and II. (Publication sanctioned in 1865.)

Robert of Brunne, or Bourne, co. Lincoln, was a member of the Gilbertine Order established at Sempringham. His Chronicle is described by its editor as a work of fiction, a contribution not to English history, but to the history of English. It was written early in the fourteenth century, and is a version, in early English rhyme, of the Chronicles of Langtoft, Geoffrey of Monmouth, and Wace, with a few additions from Bede and others.

A COLLECTION OF THE CHRONICLES AND ANCIENT HISTORIES OF GREAT BRITAIN, NOW CALLED ENGLAND, BY JOHN DE WAVRIN. 1399 to 1422. (Translation.) Edited and translated by Sir William Hardy, F.S.A., and Edward L. C. P. Hardy, Esq., F.S.A. 1864–1887. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

This curious Chronicle extends from the fabulous period of history down to the return of Edward IV. to England in the year 1471 after the second deposition of Henry VI. It was written towards the end of the fifteenth century, having been expressly executed for Louis de Bruges, Seigneur de la Gruthuyse and Earl of Winchester, from whose cabinet it passed into the library of Louis XII. at Blois. This volume is a translation of that portion of the original text which was published in the Rolls Series in the year 1868. It will be found interesting to English readers, as covering the two reigns of Henry IV. and Henry V., and throwing light on the important events of that period.

ICELANDIC SAGAS AND OTHER HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS relating to the Settlements and Descents of the Northmen on the British Isles. Vol. I. Orkneyinga Saga and Magnus Saga. Vol. II. Hakonar Saga and Magnus Saga. Edited by M. Gudbrand Vigfusson, M.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1874.)

These two volumes contain the entire original Icelandic texts of certain Sagas, with a very complete account by M. Vigfusson of the manuscripts consulted by him in the Libraries of Copenhagen, Stockholm, and Upsala. The translations of the text, with historical and geographical introductions by Sir G. W. Dasent, will form Vols. III. and IV. of the work.

The number of volumes of Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1887 has been 1,680, making a total of 46,464.

At the end of the year there were 12 works belonging to this series in the press or in the binders' hands, and 8 others in course of preparation. The material reduction of the amount voted for "Calendars and Historical Documents" has again prevented the undertaking of any fresh work. It will be seen that several of the books published in 1887 had been undertaken many years ago.

No. 2.—Calendar of Early Chancery Proceedings.

(Bundles 3 to 30.)

In the Prefaces to Volumes I. and II. of "Calendars of the Proceedings in "Chancery in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth," published by the Record Commissioners in 1827 and 1830, many examples are printed of earlier proceedings in Chancery, from the reign of Richard II. to that of Elizabeth, which, as the Commissioners remark, throw much light on the variations which have taken place in the procedure of the Court of Chancery, and afford considerable insight into the manners and customs, as well as the orthography and phraseology of the times. These examples were selected from the numerous Bills, &c. in Chancery, of which an Inventory is given in the Fifth Report of the Deputy Keeper (Appendix II., pp. 38–45), and which have since been carefully re arranged under Chancellors. A large number of similar documents recently found among the Chancery Miscellaneous Records has been incorporated with them, so as to form one comprehensive class of Early Chancery Proceedings, from the reign of Richard II. to that of Philip and Mary inclusive, arranged as far as possible in chronological order.

In the preparation of a complete Calendar of these Early Chancery Proceedings, the existing arrangement of the bundles has not been disturbed, except where it was found necessary for the correction of misplacements or the incorporation of new matter; but it may be mentioned that whereas, in the work above referred to, the Record Commissioners express the opinion that Chancery Bills, &c. were not regularly filed before the year 17 Richard II., a few have since been discovered of a somewhat earlier date.

The bulk of the documents described consists of Bills of Complaint only, which are usually very brief, but a few are endorsed with awards or decrees, and to some are annexed schedules, answers, replications, rejoinders, writs, examinations, depositions, &c., and it is probable that detached schedules, answers, &c. to Bills calendared may be found amongst the undated documents which have not yet been dealt with.

Writs and decrees, and sometimes examinations, and depositions, bear the date; Bills also in some instances bear a dated memorandum, but the majority can only e approximately dated by means of the name or title of the Chancellor or Keeper of the Great Seal to whom they are addressed. Where several Chancellors bear the same title, the language or the handwriting often affords the only clue to the date.

In the present Calendar, modern spellings have been given to the names of places where they could be ascertained without much research, followed by the original spellings within brackets; and it may be noted that the word "feoffee" has been in all cases used to denote one enfeoffed to the use of other persons.

The fourth column contains a brief description of the matters set forth in the Bill of Complaint; and a few notes have been added within brackets, together with dates mentioned in the text, and many cross references; but in none of these respects does the Calendar pretend to be exhaustive.

In the last column the letter b. stands for bill; s. for schedule; r. for answer, replication, rejoinder, &c.; dep. for deposition or examination, and dec. for decree or award. A list of the contents of each bundle prefaces the specimen Calendar.

With regard to the subject matter of the suits described in the Calendar for Bundles 3 to 30 inclusive, about one half may be said to relate to land or tenements, the remainder having reference to matters of trade, debt, assault, trespass, and a variety of other matters; the plaintiff alleging in many instances that the matter was not cognisable at common law, or that owing to the defendant's power or influence, or the "maintenance" of other persons, he could obtain no redress by the ordinary course of law. There are also many instances of petitions to the Chancellor for the revision of actions at Common Law, in which the petitioner was defendant, and for writs of "certiorari" or "habeas corpus cum causâ," to be directed to mayors, sheriffs, bailiffs, and other officers of local courts.

Matters of trade are largely dealt with, and one may note the many references to the merchants of the Hanse Company (B. 6, No. 44) of Dantzic and Prussia (Spruce); the wine merchants of Brittany and Bordeaux; and the merchants of Venice, Milan, Piedmont, Lucca, and Genoa, who do not always appear to have been welcome (B. 19, No. 22); and from B. 16, No. 97, we find that the Mayor of York was required to certify to the King the names of ships and owners trading from Hull to Iceland and Finmark. There are constant references to the wool trade, and the staple at Calais and elsewhere; and in B. 22, No. 178, we read of a loan of 10,700*l.* from the Mayor and Fellowship of the Staple to the King. In B. 19, No. 119, is given a list of captured Spanish goods, including steel, oranges and lemons, horses, &c.; and in B. 26, No. 522, there is mention of arras bought for the Duke of Bedford.

The interference of the Court of Chancery was frequently invoked in ecclesiastical disputes: suits arise out of appeals to the Court of Rome for Bulls (B. 5, No. 146; B. 6, No. 29; B. 11, No. 328; B. 27, No. 411; B. 29, No. 269), or in cases of divorce obtained on the ground of a pre-contract of marriage (B. 15, No. 175; B. 17, No. 1); and we hear of Lord Cobham and his "sect," of Commissioners against Lollardy and heresy, and riots arising therefrom, and of the burning of a book of "the great heretic Wiclif," &c. (B. 6, No. 37; B. 12, No. 177; B. 15, No. 103; B. 27, No. 394). On the other hand, a priest is cursed with "book, bell, and candle"; another is described as "a limb of the Devil," and "many Curates of Norfolk" are slain (B. 15, No. 30; B. 18, No. 34; B. 28, No. 448); the Prior of the Friars Preachers of Dunstable is "plunged in the mud" by the Prior of Dunstable; the Vicar of Cromer resists the visitation of his archdeacon by force; and the Abbots of Fountains and Meaux resist in arms a commission of reformation (B. 17, No. 279; B. 16, No. 52; B. 29, No. 159). Mention is made of pilgrimages to St. Michael's Mount in Cornwall and to Norfolk (B. 11, No. 422; B. 27, No. 354); of the foundation of Colleges at Oxford and Tonge (B. 7, No. 264; B. 17, 291), and of the reparation of churches, building of steeples, supply of bells, and the like (B. 6, No. 21; B. 7, Nos. 104 and 118; B. 11, No. 17; B. 13, No. 108; B. 24, No. 138; B. 25, No. 188; B. 27, No. 433); and in B. 12, No. 250, is given an interesting list of books, valued at 50*l.*, forming a parson's library.

Several times we meet with accusations of sorcery (B. 12, Nos. 168 and 210; B. 17, No. 260), and a scholar of Cambridge is charged with "using necromancies to make himself go invisible" (B. 11, No. 519). One may note several ancient inns in London, or what appear to be such, as the "Tabard on the Hope" at Strand Cross, the "Bole Head Tavern," the "Saracen's Head," and the "Harp" in Fleet Street the "New Inn" in "Chancellor Lane," the "Woolsack" in Bread Street, and "Bell" in Aldersgate, and mention is made of an attempted murder in the King's Mews, Charing Cross (B. 7, No. 140; B. 10, No. 326; B. 11, Nos. 216, 243, and 278; B. 15, No. 153; B. 20, No. 38). The repairs of London and Kingston Bridges form the subjects of suits (B. 15, No. 79; B. 28, No. 401); and the keepers of "the King's fowl called an Estrich" complain of injuries to their bird, and the imprisonment of their servants who were exhibiting it about the country (B. 11, No. 227).

Turning to legal matters, one may notice the constant practice of referring matters in dispute to arbitration, and of making obligations (as alleged) with only verbal conditions. We read of the incorporation of Plymouth (B. 28, No. 312); liberties claimed by the Barons of the Cinque Ports at Great Yarmouth (B. 26, No. 566); fisheries and fishery rights (B. 5, No. 17; B. 6, Nos. 2 and 241; B. 15, Nos. 63 and 64); rights of common (B. 10, No. 24; B. 11, No. 255); water rights granted to the Charter House (B. 18, No. 164); seizure of goods "as for a wytherbode" (B. 12, No. 41); many cases of the sale of wardships and marriages; a breach of promise of marriage action (B. 11, No. 93); purchase of a manumission from villenage from the Prior of Ely (B. 20, No. 134); and the purchase of a horse by weekly payments, and warranty (B. 11, No. 115; B. 28, No. 437). The general lawlessness of the times is evidenced by the frequency of violent assaults, and we hear of Irishmen and Welshmen employed to commit various outrages (B. 7, No. 23; B. 12, No. 251), and of a writ-server compelled to "eat both wax and parchment" (B. 15, No. 198).

Several wills are quoted, including an extract from that of Sir John Fastolf (B. 29, No. 277); and others are referred to, amongst which is that of Maud, late wife of Thomas Chaucier, late chief butler of England (B. 17, No. 193). In one instance a will is described as a "William" (B. 17, No. 114). Richard Lematon, of York, brings a suit on an alleged bond for procuring the offices of Warden of the Mint and Chancellor of the Exchequer, annexed to which is a curious deposition of John Somersett (Chancellor of the Exchequer?) (B. 19, No. 60). Privilege of Parliament is claimed for William Derykson, a Dutchman, servant to a Member of Parliament, against an action for debt (B. 22, No. 101).

The ransom of prisoners taken at the battle of Agincourt is the subject of a suit B. 6, No. 76; and we read of other prisoners of war being "put to finance." In B. 6, No. 80 mention is made of jewels given by the King for service in France; in B. 26, No. 475, of the wages of a spearman; and in B. 27, No. 397, of the attendance of a surgeon at the battle of Sherborne. Several references are made to "the traitor Cade" and his insurrection (B. 16, Nos. 230 and 453; B. 19, Nos. 134 and 380), &c.; and there are various suits for lands, &c., by Elizabeth, widow of Sir John Grey, afterwards Queen of Edward IV. (B. 27, Nos. 250 and 270); and by other Royal personages or persons of distinction.

Many other matters of interest might be noted, but the above may serve to illustrate the varied nature of the subjects dealt with.

No. 3.—Augmentation Office Records. Index to Enrolments of Leases and Pensions. Henry VIII. to James I.

The Index here printed is based on an ancient MS. Index which has for more than two centuries served as a guide to the contents of certain volumes among the so-called "Miscellaneous Books" of the abolished Court of Augmentations. The volumes so indexed are occupied for the most part with the enrolments of leases and pensions granted by the Crown out of the lands and revenues acquired by the dissolution of the Monasteries in the reign of Henry VIII. The ancient Index had, however, in the course of time become so dilapidated by frequent use that, during the present century, the leaves had to be inlaid in order to protect them from further damage. Before this operation was carried out portions of the leaves had become worn or torn away and thus many of the references had been lost. Moreover, this ancient compilation was, on examination, ascertained to be defective, and misleading in other respects, so that it was found to be necessary to revise the entire work and, in order to make it complete, to index a number of additional volumes which were not referred to in the old Index.

The present Index, therefore, includes, it is believed, all the hitherto unindexed leases and pensions that are entered in the Augmentation Office "Miscellaneous Books."*

The following is a complete list of the volumes included in this Index, with the dates of the volumes and their lettering:—

Leases.—The principal series of volumes of "Enrolment of Leases" in the above List came into existence under the seventh section of the Act establishing the Court of Augmentations (27 Hen. VIII. c. 27), which enacted that the "Clerke of the said "Court shall enroll and regestre in a greate boke in parchment all and every those "giftes, grauntes, releases, confirmacions, lesses, letters patentes and all other "writinges which shalbe made and graunted under the Greate Seale, and also the "day tyme and yere of the surrendre of any of theym, whan any such surrendre "shall happen; which registre of enrolmentes shall remayne and be safely kepte in "the said Courte as a recorde to the Kinges use by the appoyntement of the said "Chauncellour."

At first sight it might appear to some that an Index Locorum to these enrolments is more wanted than the Index Nominum provided below; but this is not really the case, inasmuch as the series of rolls known as "Ministers' Accounts" readily enables the searcher to trace any property under its county, or under the monastery to which it belonged, and the lessees' names being given in these rolls when lands were granted out by the Crown, an Index Nominum, in most instances, is all that is required to trace a lease in the Augmentation Office registers.

Pensions.—Hitherto the subject of monastic pensions has not received much attention, and, by many good authorities, it has been considered that little or no provision was made for the dispossessed monks and others. The volumes now indexed throw considerable light on the subject. According to the 8th section of the Act for the dissolution of the religious houses under the clear yearly value of 200*l.* it was provided that:—

"In consyderacion of whiche premysses to be had to his Highnes and to his heires as ys aforseid, his Majestye ys pleasyd and contentyd, of his most excellent charyte, to provyde to every Chief Hed and Governour of every suche Relygyous House duryng ther lyves, suche yerely pencions or benefyces as for ther degrees and qualytyes shalbe resonable and convenyent, wherein his Highnes wyll have most tender respect to suche of the seid Chief Governours as well and truly conserve and kepe the goodes and ornamentes of ther Houses to the use of his Majestie without spoyle waste or enbesylyng the same; and also his Majestye wyll ordeyne and provyde that the Coventes of every suche Relygyous house shall have ther capacytes if thei wyll to lyve honestlye and virtuously abrode, and some convenyent Charytie dysposed to them toward ther lyvyng, or elles shalbe commytted to suche honorable greate Monasteryes of this Realme wherein good Relygyon ys observed as shalbe lymyted by his Highnes, ther to lyve Relygyously duryng ther lyves."

The enrolments here indexed show, more especially those in volumes 232 to 236, the nature of the pensions thus granted. But, in addition to these volumes, which give the pension-grants in extenso, attention may be particularly directed to vols. 245 and 246 of the same series, which contain full returns of the inmates of various houses together with the amount of the pensions assigned to each individual.* These amounts varied considerably, as may be seen by the following notes made during the progress of the work:—

The abbot of Ramsey received - - - - -	266	13	4
„ Tewkesbury „ - - - - -	266	13	4
„ Peterborough „ - - - - -	266	13	4
„ Crowland „ - - - - -	133	6	8
„ Stanley „ - - - - -	24	0	0
„ Salley „ - - - - -	20	0	0

„ Cbirbury „ - - - - -	8	0	0
„ Fynehead „ - - - - -	6	13	4
„ Barlynche „ - - - - -	13	6	8

* The "Ministers' Accounts" and "Clerical Subsidy Rolls" also contain much information relating to pensions.

No. 3.—Augmentation Office Records—continued.

A canon of Walsingham received - - - - -	5	6	8
Several monks of St. Peter's, Gloucester, each received - -	8	0	0
A monk of Hulton received - - - - -	5	0	0
„ Leicester „ - - - - -	6	13	4
„ Newstead „ - - - - -	4	13	4
A nun of Elstow „ - - - - -	2	13	4
„ Amesbury „ - - - - -	6	13	4

The average pension granted to a monk seems to have been about 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, an amount which would, perhaps, represent about 50*l.* at the present time.

That these pensions when granted were also actually paid may be proved by another series among the same class of "Miscellaneous Books" (Payments and Annuities, Nos. 248 to 262). These show the periodical half-yearly or quarterly payments of the sums due, and over and above this evidence there is preserved among the miscellaneous documents of the Queen's Remembrancer's Department of the Exchequer a large collection of original receipts given by monks on account of their pensions.

But besides the Augmentation Office Books, it has been thought desirable to include in the present Index four volumes noticed in the second Appendix to the Second Report of the Deputy Keeper (pp. 206, 207). These four volumes are described as "Enrolments, or Books of Entry, of Letters Patent," and were formerly in the custody of the Comptroller of the Exchequer. In the Report mentioned the following note appears with regard to them:—

"It appears that these four volumes, Nos. 4–7, were written upon the abolition of the Court of Augmentations, when the numerous pensions, formerly paid there, were made payable at the Receipt of the Exchequer. The patents authorising the payment were necessarily entered with the Auditor of the Receipt; and it is probable that the two sets of books here described (Nos. 4 and 5, Nos. 6 and 7) were set apart for the more ready despatch of the accumulating business. It is manifest, from an entry in No. 6, that these books were kept for the sole purpose of entering Patents relating to the Court of Augmentations; for a grant of the office of Lord High Admiral to William, Lord Howard of Effingham, having been entered at f. 172*b*–3, it was cancelled, and thus marked, 'Cancellatur quia non debet hiç intrari.'"

These volumes are now classified as Auditor's Patent Books among the Records of the Exchequer of Receipt, and range from 1538 to 1553.

The following additional notes may also conveniently find a place here. Among the so-called "Suppression Papers," under date 31 Henry VIII., is a volume, or rather a portion of one (Bundle 832, No. 17), thus described :—

"Com. Ebor.—A book relating to various religious houses in the county of York, containing memoranda relating to the names, ages, wages, rewards, and pensions of monks and nuns, and of the servants of the said houses; also names of tenants, amount of rental and other particulars relating to the possessions held by them.
Copies of indentures of lease and grants.
Debts owing to the houses.
Descriptions of the houses.
Original letters to the King's Commissioners relating to possessions of the said houses, &c.
The names are hereafter inserted in the order in which they are arranged in the book, viz.:—
Essholt, Prioratus de.
Thikhed alias Thyrkhed, Monasterium de.
Wilberfosse, Monasterium de.
Yeddynghame, Prioratus de.

Prepared, under the superintendence of Mr. Walford D. Selby, by (Signed) HARLEY RODNEY.

No. 4.—Calendar of Star Chamber Proceedings.

When the arrangement of the records of the Court of Star Chamber was taken in hand at the Chapter House, Westminster, attention was in the first instance directed to the Bills and Answers of the reign of Elizabeth, and a Calendar was prepared dealing with some 43,000 suits, arranged under the initial letters of the plaintiffs' names. (Seventeenth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records, p. 8.) Some progress was also made with the reign of Henry VIII., the documents being arranged alphabetically under the plaintiffs' names from "Ab" to "Gy," and bound in 16 volumes, for which a Calendar was subsequently prepared. (Nineteenth Report of the Deputy Keeper, p. 18.) At this point, however, the work was suspended, partly in consequence of the retirement of the officer who was engaged upon it. For want of a calendar, or index, the remaining documents of the reign of Henry VIII., and all those of the two succeeding reigns, have remained practically useless to students.

The following Calendar deals with the contents of Bundles 17 to 26 inclusive, which immediately follow the 16 volumes already mentioned. It gives more information as to the subjects of the different suits than was given in the manuscript Calendar for the first 16 volumes; but, on the other hand, no attempt has been made to arrange the documents in alphabetical order, as such an arrangement would have involved considerable delay. By reference to the "county" column, the Calendar can be examined rapidly by anyone searching for information about a particular family or place.

The Court of Star Chamber, as it existed during the Tudor period, seems to have derived its authority from the Statutes 3 Henry VII., cap. 1, and 21 Henry VIII., cap. 20. The first of these recites that the orderly government of the realm was impeded by unlawful maintenances, giving of liveries signs and tokens, and retainders by indentures promises oaths and writings, or other embraceries, untrue demeaning of sheriffs in the returns and panels of juries, riots and unlawful assemblies, and it enacts that the Chancellor, the Treasurer, and certain other dignitaries should have power to summon persons so offending, and others, and to punish the misdoers just as if they had been convicted in the due course of law. The second statute enlarges the tribunal.

Most of the suits enumerated in the following Calendar relate to offences specified in the statute 3 Henry VII., cap. 1, riots and unlawful assemblies being the most common. The evidence of these records tends to show that in the reign of Henry VIII. the action of the Court of Star Chamber was by no means oppressive, and that it rather provided security for the humbler members of the community against oppression by their richer or more powerful neighbours. There are, however, instances of juries being prosecuted for their verdicts.

The value of these records for legal purposes is, unfortunately, much diminished by the loss of the Orders of the Court, so that it is now impossible to ascertain the result of any particular suit, or the truth of the statements made on either side. Cases of importance may, however, sometimes be traced in the records of other courts. On the other hand, the briefest examination of the Calendar shows the value of these documents as furnishing genealogical and topographical information, and illustrating the manners and customs of the sixteenth century.

No. 5.—Report made to the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls.

My Lord, Rome, December 30th, 1887.

I beg to submit to your Lordships the following report for the year 1887 :—In the first six months I sent 278 transcripts and 1,680 abstracts of documents. In the second six months I have sent 163 transcripts and 1,185 abstracts of documents. Most of the transcripts are of papers of the years 1600 to 1650, from the volumes of the Nuntiatures of France, Spain, and Brussels. The abstracts of documents are from the Regesta of Benedict XII. (1334–1342), Clement VI. (1342–1352), and Innocent VI. (1352–1362). There remain many documents of Clement VI. to be sent next year.

As the reports up to this date have been written after the transcripts were sent to the Public Record Office I have been able to do little more than indicate the sources from which they have been made, I now beg to be permitted to give some account of the papers on which I am at work, and which will be sent next year.

The series of Regesta of Clement VI. is a long one, and among the abstracts of the letters of the sixth year of that pontificate will be found appointments to the sees of Armagh, St. David's, Dunkeld, and Dumblane ; letters to the Abbots of Malmesbury and St. Augustine's, Canterbury, to the bishops of Ossory, Chichester, Wells, and Lincoln. William Spersholte, monk of Winchester, is ordered "mitti ad "studium quam primo." Queen Philippa's vow to visit Compostella is commuted. Francesco Orsini is a conspicuous pluralist and absentee. Johanna, daughter of Edmund earl of Kent and wife of Thomas de Holand, has a suit against William de Montacute. Two benefices in the diocese of Ely are united to Clare College, Cambridge, and provision is made for the chapel. The King is urged to make restitution to the bishop of Ossory. Richard earl of Arundel and Isabella are cited to Rome. Philip de Weston is not to be admitted dean of York. Marriage dispensations are granted to Guy de Pontefort and Catherine daughter of Thomas earl of Warwick, to Nicholas Alard of Winchelsea and Margaret Winch, to Robert de Stratgrif and Elizabeth More, to John Napton and Isabella Jordan, to John earl of Kent and Elizabeth daughter of William count of Juliers, to John de Mowbray and Elizabeth de Segrave, to John de Segrave and Blanche Mowbray, to William Mowbray and Helen le Chien. In writing these names I have given the spelling of the Regesta.

In the seventh year of Clement VI. appointments are made to the sees of Canterbury, Tuam Ardfert, Leighlin, Aghadoe, Moray, and Soder. Pestilence raged in the dioceses of Lincoln and Lichfield and Coventry. Four benefices are united to Pembroke, Hall, Cambridge.

In the eighth year of Clement VI. the Jubilee is published. Letters are addressed to the archbishops and bishops warning them against the Flagellants. Appointments are made to the sees of St. David's, Worcester, and Dublin.

In the second, third, fourth, and fifth years of Gregory XI. (1370–1378) the usual demands for subsidies are made upon the bishops. Endeavours are made to bring about a peace between the Kings of England and France, and many letters are written to various persons interested on either side.

There are several letters from the Pope to Sir John Hawkwood and other English mercenaries thanking them for their services, and telling them how to fight their battles. It may be that Giovanni Aguti and his friends when they read, or had read to them, these letters thought they knew their own business best, and would rather have had prompt payment than advice and instructions.

In the second year of Urban VI. (1378–1389) the archbishop of Canterbury is warned against falsifications of papal letters made by Stephen de Cusentia. In the third year the Guinesses appear as receivers of money collected by the papal agents in England. In the fifth year letters are written to John duke of Lancaster against the King of Castille and Leon and the pseudo-pope Robert (Clement VII.). In the eleventh year the papal collector in England is ordered to pay a thousand florins for the stipends of the English mercenaries in Italy.

I have begun to examine a series of above one hundred volumes of Regesta of Boniface IX. (1389–1404) temporarily placed in the Vatican Archives. In these

I have already found several letters addressed to William of Wykeham, bishop of Winchester, granting petitions made by him to the Pope for privileges and concessions in favour of his two Saint Mary Winton Colleges.

I have the honour to be,
My Lord,
Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,
(Signed) WILLIAM H. BLISS.
